Test of Strength

While deputy sat in for him in Ottawa Monday as Parliament marked its own centenary, Governor-General Michener continued tour of his native Alberta that ends Wednesday. He also found time for calisthenics, doing early-morning kicks in Red Deer railroad yard in near-freezing temperatures which kept everyone away but one hardy cameraman.

On Pearson and Taxes

SHARP 'TOO FRANK'

CALGARY (CP) — The Herald Monday quoted Finance Minister Sharp as saying Prime Minister Pearson "does not intend to take the Liberal party through the next election" unless one is called soon.

The newspaper said Sharp made the remark to a meeting of young Liberals Saturday and was unaware reporters were present. The reporters had been invited.

Sharp said there was no doubt Pearson intends to retire soon and it was "a question of when." (See also Page 11.)

He said later he thought the meeting was closed to the press and had been "far franker than I would have been" if he had known reporters were there. He had not intended to make public remarks about the prime minister's plans.

Sharp said he was speaking in terms of problems facing the Liberal party. One was that Mr. Pearson would probably not be the leader in the next election.

He added: "As far as I am concerned it is a problem, because I believe Mr. Pearson would be the best man to face Mr. Stanfield in the next election."

Sharp also told the meeting the government plans to proceed with its medical care insurance program, and added: "To the extent medicare comes in, I shall have to raise taxes."

Asked what effect the medical plan would have on Ottawa's budgetary problems, he said: "An adverse effect."

Tories Press for Probe

Judy Fights Snipers

By RON COLLISTER
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Progressive Conservative MPs will try again today to force the Judy LaMarsh-CBC row into a parliamentary committee for investigation.

Monday, Speaker Lucien

Lamoureux ruled out of order a Conservative bid to postpone second reading of the new broadcasting bill until it, and the troubles of the secretary of state, have been sent to the Commons broadcasting committee for study.

Tory rules expert G. W. Baldwin said his party wants to get CBC president Alphonse Ouimet and the state secretary "into the bullring to find out what they are talking about."

those who might not be responsible."

Tory Tom Bell sniped at Miss LaMarsh: "Why did you start it, then?"

"Any suggestion I started anything shows only the ignorance of the man who said that," she snapped back.

"The reports which this government, and earlier governments, have commissioned over the past few years have indicated exactly the same thing."

She said the new CBC appointments would not be announced until after the broadcasting bill is approved by Parliament.

Dance of Death

Unexplained leap to death in Hong Kong Sunday killed Lau Sik-yan, 44. As crowd watched police investigate death leap of teenage Chinese girl from rooftop ledge, Lau crawled onto ledge—dancing, balancing and skipping for 20 minutes as crowd gasped and cheered. With final laugh, he jumped, just missing firemen circling with safety net.

Unity, Ceremony Birthday Theme

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's Parliament marked its 100th anniversary Monday with speeches on national unity, colorful ceremonies, a film and a reception.

The first session of Parliament under Confederation was opened here Nov. 6, 1867, by Lord Monck, the governor-general, in a virtual re-enactment Monday, Chief Justice John R. Cartwright came to Parliament Hill by carriage, reviewed a guard of honor while cannon boomed, then entered the Senate.

ROYAL ASSENT
As deputy for Governor-General Michener, who is visiting Western Canada, the chief justice of the Supreme Court of Canada gave royal assent to several bills.

Then, with MPs standing behind the brass rail at the entrance, the 72-year-old jurist commented on the occasion. "We have many things to celebrate in this centennial year," he said. "Not the least of these is the effectiveness of our form of government."

GOOD FORTUNE
"It is our good fortune and our proud boast that we in Canada enjoy a long heritage of freedom."

Canada had inherited the parliamentary system from Britain but made it its own. It wasn't a perfect system, but "it stands unchallenged as the most successful method of democracy."

SNOW FLURRIES

Snow flurries added color to the scene as the chief justice, in top hat and tails, arrived on Parliament Hill in a fur-draped open carriage pulled by four black horses.

RCMP outriders in scarlet led the carriage to the steps below the Peace Tower, where a guard of honor in greatcoats and busbies was at attention.

A military band struck a lively tune as the erect chief justice, a First World War veteran, reviewed the guard.

RECEPTION

Earlier in the day, MPs gathered in the railway committee room, which has the dimensions of a train station lobby, and watched a 20-minute film about the Parliament Buildings.

The Speakers of the Senate and Commons were the hosts at a dinner-hour reception in the Confederation Room of the West Block.

National unity was the theme of a round of speeches at the

Chemist Zooms Skyward

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The U.S. early today fired a robot chemist named Surveyor 6 toward the moon on a risky lunar landing mission to confirm a prime astronaut landing site is safe for men.

The three-legged spacecraft left earth exactly on schedule and is due to land on the moon Thursday. (Other U.S. space stories are on Page 17.)

He piled up 15,961 votes in Nova Scotia's Colchester-Hants to 1,146 for Independent Liberal Robert Kirk and 238 for Independent Elwood Smith. The turnout was 52 per cent of the eligible voters, far below the 85 per cent in the 1965 general election.

Newfoundland's new federal cabinet minister, Charles Granger, won the Bonaville-Twillingate riding of J. W. Pickersgill with a margin sharply reduced from the new Canadian transport chief's 1965 edge.

MORE VOTERS

Granger, minister without portfolio, was fewer than 2,000 votes ahead of a Conservative, with an independent far back. Pickersgill won by 6,426 ballots in 1965 and the turnout of 60 per cent was a slight gain from the 56 per cent at the last national election.

While Conservatives cut the Liberal majority in Newfoundland, Liberals sliced the Tory margin in Alberta's Jasper-Edson, a riding that is to disappear in the next redistribution. Conservative Doug Caston, a weekly newspaper publisher, ended up with 6,739 votes to 3,901 for a Liberal and 1,733 for the NDP candidate.

NEW STANDINGS

Dr. Hugh Horner, who quit federal politics last spring and won an Alberta legislature seat, was a victor by 10,292 ballots in 1965. The turnout then was 72 per cent and Monday was about 65 per cent.

Commons standings now are Liberals 132, Conservatives 95, NDP 22, Creditists eight, Social Credit four, independents three and one vacancy. Stanfield is expected to take his seat when the byelection results are declared official Nov. 15.

He stressed he meant examination of the charges of "rotten management" in the CBC, made by Miss LaMarsh last week.

The Tories show no sign of easing up in their assault on the accident-prone Miss LaMarsh, but the government is gambling it can ride out the storm.

In the Commons, Miss LaMarsh pleaded the traditional defence of newsmen about safeguarding their sources of information.

"It is very difficult to pass on any of this information without pointing to people in the corporation to whom reference is made or to the people who have been the sources of my information," she said.

"I feel that, if I were to disclose the names of any of the sources, no secretary of state hereafter would ever have any information about what was going on in the corporation. "I do not, therefore, propose to name any of these individuals, now or at any time," she added.

Miss LaMarsh said she did not believe anything further could be gained from speculation about the individuals who are responsible, or who appear to be responsible (for rotten management).

"Unless I am specific, to say anything more about it would narrow it down to some individuals, but still touch

Basford on Fishing Limits

Send Out Gunboats

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Canada should use gunboats if necessary to enforce her new 12-mile limit on territorial waters, MP Ron Basford told the annual meeting of New Westminster

Liberal Association Monday night.

He urged the federal government to press for a United Nations conference on Canada's enlarged territorial waters and fishing zones to gain international acceptance.

Offshore Ruling Today

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada will give its opinion today on whether the federal government or the provinces hold title to mineral riches under offshore ocean beds.

The court was asked specifically to decide jurisdiction between Ottawa and B.C., but all provinces will be affected by the decision, since a ruling for Ottawa would give landlocked provinces a share in offshore revenues.

"Our position is also now the law of Canada," he said. "If it is necessary to enforce that jurisdiction with gunboats, we will have no alternative but to send out the gunboats."

Mr. Basford, the Liberal member for Vancouver-Parrish, criticized the United States for failing to accept the new boundaries.

"The U.S., in spite of the fact that we have consulted and negotiated with them throughout, has protested and refused to recognize the Canadian position," he said.

"We should press on with our declarations of straight baselines started two weeks ago but we should also press for another conference to assure international acceptance."

He said he is optimistic that

On Land, In Air, At Sea

Weekend Takes Toll In Deadly Crashes

From AP, UPI

Britain's worst train wreck in a decade was blamed tentatively Monday on a broken rail joint that had passed inspection two days before the crash.

The wreck came during a three-day period which also saw 38 people die and 160 survive in three major air crashes, a bridge collapse take anywhere from 10 to 22 lives, and scores of others died in accidents of many kinds around the world.

The worst disaster of all came after typhoon Emma storm left 243,000 homeless and caused a damage of up to $75,000,000.

More than 80 of the typhoon victims died when an inter-island ship sank as Emma's 125-mile-an-hour winds swept the central Philippines seas. About 135 aboard the ferry were rescued.

A tidal wave was said to have wiped out the village of Bacon, south of Manila. There was no confirmation.

Another 23 Filipinos died when a bus plunged into a typhoon-swollen river on the island of Samar. In the Caribbean, a bridge being built across the harbor of Willemstad on the Dutch resort island of Curacao collapsed with a thunderous roar, leaving 10 workmen known dead, 12 others missing and feared lost, and two badly injured.

Debris from the $15,000,000 span blocked the harbor mouth from early-morning to mid-afternoon at the peak of the season for Willemstad, one of the busiest cruise-ship ports on the Caribbean.

The 3,500-foot bridge was being built to carry four lanes of traffic across the harbor. A 1,600-foot section from the east-Continued on Page 2

New Red Missiles Will Boost Big Show Today

From UPI, AP

MOSCOW (UPI) — The biggest parade in Russian history, celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, today will unveil five new Soviet missiles but will be relatively calm in attitude toward China and the west.

Soviet sources said Monday the annual parade will include new weapons for the first time in three years — a 120-foot intercontinental ballistic missile, two intermediate-range missiles, a Polaris-type submarine rocket and a tracked vehicle carrying a small anti-aircraft missile. (See also Page 5.)

U.S. THERE

U.S. ambassador Llewellyn Thompson will be the first man in his position to attend a Soviet anniversary parade. Chinese diplomats also have accepted invitations but rumors Monday said they would walk out if the keynote speech by Defence Minister Grechko attacks Peking.

Soviet leaders Monday marched solemnly to Lenin's tomb as a small crowd of citizens clustered behind police barricades.

The party secretary, Leonid Brezhnev, round-faced and strong looking and the focal point of all the current celebrations, walked slowly up a short flight of stairs to stand at the front open door of the tomb. Beside him were Premier Kosygin, face heavily-lined, cherubic Nikolay Podgorny and the towering figure of the party's ideological guide, Mikhail Suslov.

ern side of the harbor gave way. Work on the western span was to have started early next year.

The list of dead from the derailment in South London Sunday evening rose to 54, with six of the 136 injured passengers rated dangerously ill.

RAIL BROKEN

Transport Minister Barbara Castle told Parliament:

"The cause seems to be a fracture at a joint of a rail that was laid only last year, but this will have to be established by the formal inquiry..."

British railway officials said the section of line where the fracture was discovered had been inspected routinely Friday. Railway workers cut away the suspect, 10-inch piece of rail early Monday.

600 YARDS

The break was discovered about 600 yards from the place in suburban Hither Green where passenger coaches of the Hastings-London electric express jumped the track, jack-knifed and overturned in a screech of metal, trapping scores of passengers.

The crash was only one station away from Lewisham, where 90 passengers died in a 1957 train collision.

NONE KILLED

The latest major air crash occurred Monday night at the Greater Cincinnati airport, when a Trans World Airlines jet carrying 27 passengers and seven crew members went down on takeoff. None was killed and only a few injuries were reported.

The Boeing 707 was flying to Los Angeles from Boston.

Witnesses said flames went 75 to 100 feet in the air from the runway and the jet's right wing was almost completely torn off. But a hostess on the plane said everything "was under control at all times."

Airport firemen said the flames were confined to the front of the plane.

In Hong Kong, civil aviation officials said the crash of a Cathay Pacific jetliner in the harbor early Sunday may have been caused by a tire blowout during takeoff. Of the 127 aboard, all were rescued but Mrs. Tran Thi Tam, wife of a South Vietnamese army officer.

At Fenshurst, England, an Iberia Airlines official said an explosion may have caused a Saturday-night jetline crash that killed all 37 aboard. One of the victims was British actress June Thorburn, 36, who was expecting a baby in four months.

KINSHASA, The Congo (UPI) — The Congolese government said Monday it was in full control of the eastern region Bukavu mercenary stronghold and that the four-month rebellion had ended.

What was left of the army of 130 white mercenaries and 1,000 Katangese soldiers led by Col. Jean Schramme had fled across the border to Rwanda to await evacuation by Red Cross planes.

The mercenaries marched 375 miles through the jungle from the Oriental province capital of Kisangani to Bukavu Aug. 9. They had rebelled when Congolese troops tried to disarm them on orders from President Joseph Mobutu.

Mideast Peace Feelers Follow Jordan Gun Duel

From UPI, AP

Israel, Jordan and the U.S. extended peace feelers Monday, on the heels of Sunday's gun duel between Israeli and Jordanian forces across River Jordan.

In London, Israel offered the Arab nations "objectively reasonable peace terms" if they come to a conference table to negotiate a final settlement.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told a news conference Israel will make "constructive and viable proposals" which will be "objectively reasonable" to reach a settlement with the neighboring Arab countries. In Washington, King Hussein of Jordan said the Arabs "are willing to give a great deal" to settle the Mideast dispute but emphasized that any conciliatory moves were conditional on what Israel does. He met newsmen after conferring with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

And in the UN, the U.S. circulated a new draft resolution aimed at bringing peace to the Mideast. No details were given, but informed sources said the resolution called for appointment of a special UN envoy to the Mideast.

The gun duel across River Jordan came just before dawn Sunday and involved artillery and tank gun fire.

Israel said 10 shells hit a kibbutz — communal farm — and Jordan charged the Israeli guns aimed at civilian homes. The duel began after saboteurs blew up a kibbutz building near the river on the Israeli side. It was the third border clash in three weeks along the Israeli-Jordanian ceasefire line.

South Arabia Faces Civil War

Army Backs Freedom Group

ADEN (UPI) — The Army shed that is taking more innocent lives than those of the two Arab groups fighting a "war of extermination" for control of the South Arabian Federation. The move threatened a civil war on the eve of independence from British Rule.

The South Arabian Army Command broadcast a statement saying it recognized the National Liberation Front as "the only representative of the South Arabian people."

The army move to take sides came after the NLF and FLOSY broke a short truce earlier in the day and fought a savage machine-gun, mortar and bazooka battle that blasted down homes and buildings in parts of Mansoorah and another section of Aden called Sheikh Othman.

The short-lived truce had been declared when a walling crowd of 2,000 women and children took to the streets crying for the Ara's fighters to put down their guns and end the blood.

U.S. Jet Downs Two MiGs

SAIGON (AP) — An American F-4 Phantom aircraft blasted down two Communist MIG-17 fighter planes over Hanoi Monday while flying cover for U.S. Air Force planes hammering a huge military storage area on the edge of the North Vietnamese capital for the first time.

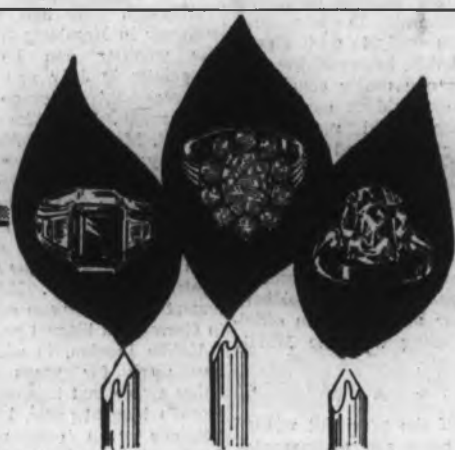

The area had previously been on the U.S. defence department's no-bombing list.

HANOI CLAIM

The U.S. command reported no losses of American planes, but Hanoi's official Vietnam news agency claimed five U.S. planes were shot down, three over Hanoi and two over Ha Bac province nearby.

The MIG kills brought to 98 the U.S.-confirmed number of Communist planes shot down by Americans in North Vietnamese air battles. Communist airmen, by U.S. count, have downed 26 U.S. planes.

The air attacks overshadowed all other action in the war Monday. U.S. and South Vietnamese reported no major ground activity in the South.

Still Not Fair

AT THE BEGINNING of this year, it may be recalled, Mayor Hugh Stephen of Victoria criticized the provincial government for limiting the increase in valuations of property for school tax purposes to 5 per cent a year. The rule, Mayor Stephen said, deprived the city of taxes on about $1,000,000 in new values. The taxpayers generally, through the mill rate set by council, would have to make good the loss of what ordinarily would have been new revenue.

Now, it appears, Premier Bennett has had a new look at the limitation. He said at the British Columbia Social Credit League convention in Vancouver that homeowners will continue to enjoy the 5 per cent per year maximum on assessment increases. But he indicated that legislation will be introduced at the next session to raise the ceiling on all commercial and industrial properties.

This alteration if it comes about will partly answer civic complaints. But it will not completely remove the distortion of the tax base that the annual limit has brought about.

In those municipalities, such as Victoria, which have a comparatively high degree of commercial or industrial development, the return to assessments accurately reflecting market prices on property of this type should mean a great deal more revenue at a given tax rate.

But in those that are chiefly residential, such as Saanich, this beneficial effect will be of minor proportions. And in both kinds, the imbalance will continue to grow as between homeowner and homeowner.

The equalization of assessment that was in effect throughout the province before the 5-per-cent rule began to distort it was intended to ensure that British Columbia property-owners everywhere share the cost of education equitably, their assessments being based chiefly on the size value of their property.

But in some areas of the province, and in some areas of municipalities and not in others, land values have been skyrocketing. When assessment increases are limited in the present fashion, inequity is introduced.

For example if residential land values in the Hightone district of Dornitona climb by 30 per cent in a year while over in the Oldplace neighborhood they remain stagnant, the 5-per-cent limit means that the total municipal assessment on which taxes are levied is not likely to climb very much. To meet rising costs, the tax-rate therefore is going to have to go up. Because the Hightones' homes have so much increased in real but not in taxable worth, the Oldplaces (with no such gain when they come to sell) must also pay at a higher rate.

It's not exactly fair, and perhaps Premier Bennett ought to take yet another look at the formula.

In Two Camps

SINCE FRANCE made its treaty of alliance with Russia in 1893 it has, from time to time, played a subtle and complicated diplomatic game in Europe.

A London newspaper reports a Franco-Russian military exchange agreement and "secret overtures" to Canada and Belgium, which Ottawa denies.

While such reports may lead to doubts among the NATO allies that France is a good security risk, as the article suggests, such agreement as may exist hardly approaches the Anglo-French entente of 1904 or the so-called triple entente between France, Russia and Britain in 1907.

What is disturbing, however, is that France while still a member of NATO and privy to top security matters there, should try to keep a foot in each of two still unreconciled camps.

Retreat at Aden

FOR THE FIRST TIME in her history, Great Britain is about to grant independence to a country without a government. This is the case in the Aden Protectorate which henceforth will be South Arabia.

Britain was scheduled to withdraw military units and hand over control next January. But the government, in its wisdom, has decided to hasten departure. Britain will quit by the end of November.

For some time it has been apparent that without the commitment of many thousands of British troops and armored units in quantity control of the factional fighting in Aden and the surrounding sultanates was impossible. The rival National Liberation Front and the Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen have been at each other's throats in a bloody contest for power on Britain's departure, and at the same time each was harassing the British authorities by riot and murder in Aden itself.

The British decision to pull out immediately will be viewed in some quarters as an undignified retreat, if not a surrender. But it is entirely understandable that British patience now should be exhausted.

The British authority has tried unsuccessfully to encourage a settlement of the differences between the NLF and FLOSY, it has tried to play a police role as well as that of intermediary only to call down upon itself the wrath of both Arab factions; and it painstakingly assisted in the building of a South Arabian army which, it was hoped, would be able to control the situation on the British departure.

The British failure is not for lack of trying, but simply due to the hate-born intransigence of the rival factions.

Although the NLF appears in the strongest political position, and undoubtedly feels itself securely in the saddle, it has ordered its representatives in Cairo to discontinue negotiations for some sort of union with FLOSY—there is still no sign of a truce. There was severe fighting over the weekend.

British troops did not interfere, although they continued to give aid to the wounded of both sides.

Britain still hopes the South Arabian army will be the main stabilizing force in the new state; but in some well-informed areas it is believed loyalties in this force, too, are divided between NLF and FLOSY.

What will happen to the small British administration group which it was planned to leave behind when the troops flew out in order to help the successor government in its organization is a question which must be bothering Whitehall. In the circumstances it might be wiser to remove them until such time as the new government expresses a desire for their presence.

Washington Calling

Arms Are Aces as Big Powers Gamble In Continuing Mid-East Confrontation

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WHAT can possibly come out of the thickening tangle in the Middle East no one in this government is prepared to say. Even for the Israelis and their warmest supporters the mood of elation that went with the swift Israeli victory in the war of last June has been deflated.

Like the burned-out Egyptian tanks and half-tracks in the Sinai Desert hope for a peaceful future seems dark and immovable. And the remnant of hope that for the Israelis had hovered over a moderate Arab leader now seems certainly shattered.

King Hussein of Jordan is coming to Washington with a brief case stuffed with promises past, present, broken, and slightly cracked. The announced reason for his visit is to deliver an address at Georgetown University following discussion at the United Nations in New York. But the real objective is a meeting with President Johnson to talk turkey about Arab relations with the United States and Israel. Hussein is coming to this country following a series of conferences with heads of state in the capitals of Western Europe. And while it is still under wraps the assurance he got from President Charles de Gaulle of France, according to Jordanian sources, is the king's ace in the hole.

Giving the de Gaulle assurance added weight is the word to Hussein from an American source while he was in Paris. He was told that the United States would not provide the F-104 fighter-bombers long in the discussion stage. This message came as the state department announced that arms sales to the Middle East would be resumed. On the approved list were Israel, Morocco, Libya, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Tunisia. The five Arab states will get mostly replacement parts while Israel is supposed to receive Sky Hawks obligated prior to the June war. The F-104s for Jordan are still in the discreet state department phrase, in suspension.

As they began their talk in the Elysee Palace, de Gaulle reminded the young king that France had put an embargo on the shipment of arms to all the belligerents in the Arab-Israeli war. But, the crafty de Gaulle is said to have indicated, this will not necessarily keep Hussein from obtaining Mirages and Mysteres. These are the most-advanced fighter and bomber types figuring in French arms sales around the world.

You have good relations with both Iran and Pakistan, he perhaps suggested. Keep up that friendship and there is no reason why planes delivered to those countries cannot eventually end up in Jordan. While this highly secret conversation will be denied, officials trying to straighten out the Middle East tangle believe it will be a factor in the confidence with which Hussein confronts Johnson.

despite the agreement at the Arab summit in Khartoum, Jordan is ready to go it alone. To all this, however, the king attaches one major condition—that the president can assure him Israel will restore the territories conquered in the war that ended with the complete rout of Egyptian forces. This is Hussein's interpretation of territorial integrity and secure boundaries. And it has no little backing in the public statements of Ambassador Arthur Goldberg and other administration officials grappling with the Middle East puzzle.

Even if the president wanted to give some sort of guarantee covering return of the conquered territories that way out has been foreclosed. Premier Levi Eshkol announced that Israel meant to consolidate a hold on the occupied lands, including the west bank of the Jordan. Given the deep divisions in the Israeli government, Eshkol may have had no choice. Given this outcome, Hussein will also have a very narrow range of choices. He can fall back on de Gaulle and perhaps also on Moscow. The Soviets are said to have indicated a willingness to equip the Jordanian air force with Mig-21s. This would be one more score for the Soviets, who since the Israeli victory have greatly increased their penetration of the Arab world.

To settle the conquered territories and absorb the Arab population will be for Israel an enormously costly undertaking. The fruits of victory must seem at this moment to be Dead Sea fruits.

Rhodesia Sanctions An Apparent Fiasco

By OTTO VON HARSBURG

WHEN one remembers the violent tirades against Rhodesia and its Prime Minister Ian Smith a year or so ago, one will not fail to be surprised by the present silence. International opinion scarcely notes that the country still exists. With that, Rhodesia, whose collapse "within a few weeks" was announced by Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson, is getting ready to celebrate the second anniversary of its unilateral declaration of independence on Nov. 11, 1965.

At first the new state was threatened with the use of force. This did not frighten Salisbury, since Great Britain has not the military means to impose its will in the area, while the African armies only exist on paper. Then came the economic sanctions. They were an illusion that only the artificial atmosphere of the UN could create.

International economic sanctions have never succeeded. They make sense only if somebody controls their application. This is impossible, since the entire globe would have to be inspected. Thus economic measures are carried out only by those directly involved; the others take advantage in order to gain a valuable market. This is why one today meets in Salisbury and Bulawayo so many Japanese, French and Germans, not to speak of South Africans, Portuguese and the representatives of black countries, eager to occupy the places relinquished at their demand by the British and the Americans.

Hamburg Holiday

Industry, Deviltry Live Side by Side

By ERIC NEWBY from Hamburg

IF to be tired of London is to be tired of life, as Dr. Johnson insisted, then anyone who has had a bellyful of the Free and Hanseatic City is probably ready for the cemetery. For this great, utterly fascinating and often beautiful city, from which the spires of five churches and a huge Rathaus soar into the sky, is one of the most energy-consuming in the world.

Only the Hamburgers, of whom there were 1,550,000 when they last had a roll-call, have the strength to stand up to it for any length of time. They are insatiable. They work hard. And with the fruits of their industry they enjoy themselves with a gusto equalled only by that of the thousands of sailors who come ashore from the 320 ocean-going ships which can berth in the port on any one day.

This energetic spending puts us at a disadvantage with our £50 — one big, unpremeditated night on the Reeperbahn could take care of that; the only consolation is that it would be exactly the same if it was £50. You can't lick Hamburg — unless you go on business and have a special allowance, it has to be a short, all-inclusive holiday, or a mini-cruise, or an exercise in ingenuity.

A lot of things are free, such as ferry boats in the port; transport by train and boat within the city is relatively cheap, but keep out of taxis. Instead of eating a whole lunch, you can choose a single sustaining course, such as labkaus, an edifying hash made from minced meat, herring, mashed potato and chopped gherkins with an egg on top.

Although they had a lovely summer in Hamburg this year, the weather can be awful, especially in July and August. "Schrecklich," everyone says with relish. "Just like London, Cardiff, Manchester, Aberdeen," you say, and they love you for it. Very friendly, the Hamburgers, very difficult to have a row with; strange in a city where so many people are half-seas over. Anyway, the weather doesn't matter. You don't expect Mediterranean conditions in Germany's biggest port.

Unlike London, in which you can work for years without being aware that it is one of the world's biggest ports, Hamburg reminds you constantly, as Liverpool does, that shipping is its principal business. Vessels of up to 47,000 tons come sliding up the Elbe on the tide, past the great baroque tower of St. Michaelis, so green that it looks as if it has itself risen from the sea, and the sound of their sirens reaches to every part. Across the river, opposite St. Pauli, the great gantries of the shipyards loom up as they never could over Soloh.

Shops all over the town, not only on the waterfront, sell shackle spikes, hurricane-proof trousers and seamen's caps with small peaks. So many Hamburgers who have nothing to do with the sea wear these braided caps, that the city seems at times to be largely populated by sailors (real by trade, the reverse journey, if made in darkness, can be boring for these men, because the difference between occulting and flashing lights).

THE PORT. Has 36 miles of quays, 37 basins, 900 cranes, 340 miles of railway. Famous for its quick turnaround. A banana boat unloads 70,000 bushels of bananas in 15 hours; you can try walking the interminable roads, but everything worth seeing is masked by shade. Take free ferries or the 1½-hour boat trip.

ST. PAULI. The fun part — day and night service. Divided by the Reeperbahn (once a rope walk, now only the visitors get twisted). A mixture of Blackpool's Golden Mile, the Charing Cross Road and Broadway, with similar smells. The more rugged, sailor-town part is on the south side. There, Herbertstrasse is all that remains of the old brothel quarter. In it, behind the cast iron doors at each end, which make it a little world in parenthesis, the girls sit at the windows twirling keys and other more sinister instruments. You can take your wife or girl friend in the tourist season to see what she missed by staying in Wimbledon — though she won't be exactly welcome.

North of the Reeperbahn, in the Grosse Freiheit, where the more powerful strip joints are, there is female wrestling in Elbe mud and other delights. In an open courtyard of the fortress-like Eros Centre on the Reeperbahn itself, built to replace Herbertstrasse, which is shortly to be pulled down, you can make your choice.

It is just like a cattle market. No wives here. By contrast, the Top Ten and the Star Club, 136 Reeperbahn, where the Beatles started, if you can get in, makes all these pleasures seem a bit old-fashioned. Entrance about 2a. Take no more money to St. Pauli than you need, and after dark steer clear of the nasty wood by the Bismark statue at the eastern end.

MUSEUM FUER HAMBURGISCHE GESCHICHTE, 24 Holstenwall. The history of Hamburg; fascinating collection. Wonderful models of the city, some on a vast scale; ago?

KONTORHAUSEN (Counting House), Innenstadt. Four enormous multistory buildings of the twenties. Among them is the Cheltenham, built for the shipping millionaire, Henry Sloman, of dark, clinker brick with ceramic decorations by R. Kuehl, in the form of a sharp-prowed liner. Six thousand people work in the steelbuilt Sprinkenhof, named after a property man.

THEATER IM ZIMMER, 30 Alsterchaussee. Small, elegant pavilion house among trees in Poensdorf, a luxurious residential quarter of Hamburg merchants on the right bank of the beautiful Aussen-Alster. Houses the first intimate theatre in post-war Germany, which was started by Helmut Gmelin in more humble surroundings. The entrenched wealth manifests in the houses on the shores of the Aussen-Alster is something to contemplate. To appreciate the civic pride of the city, see the amazing interior of the Rathaus.

HANSA-THEATER, 17 Stein-damm. The last vaudeville theatre in Hamburg, founded in 1886. Fifty turns, some marvelous, all good of their kind. You sit in comfort at brass-embellished tables and press buttons for excellent drinks and cold foods at reasonable prices. Splendid old waitresses, and some not so old, all in black with starched and crimped white cuffs and headresses. Matinee and evening performances. Children admitted. Booking essential.

ELBUERWEG. Beautiful 10-mile walk on the right bank of the Elbe to Schulau by way of Ovelgönne, a riverside village of old houses and cottages, and a number of pubs and little restaurants.

THE ELBE. Between Elbe I lightness off the Scharhorn Riff, which is heavily infected with dumped munitions, and where the Kiel Canal takes off for the Baltic, the river is the busiest waterway in the world after the Thames. Way out, in 10 square miles of mud by Scharhorn, an enormous Port is being planned for the 1980s. The best way to see the Elbe is to take the Helgoland steamer as far as Cuxhaven and return by train. The reverse journey, if made in darkness, can be boring for these men, because the difference between occulting and flashing lights.

THE PORT. Has 36 miles of quays, 37 basins, 900 cranes, 340 miles of railway. Famous for its quick turnaround. A banana boat unloads 70,000 bushels of bananas in 15 hours; you can try walking the interminable roads, but everything worth seeing is masked by shade. Take free ferries or the 1½-hour boat trip.

FISCHMARKT. At St. Pauli. Sunday mornings 5-10 a.m. For the public, many of whom have been enjoying themselves all night previously. Auctions of fresh fish, marvellous 'degustations' of smoked ones and other fish. Auctions of fruit — you are likely to receive a bunch of bananas in the eye as a free sample; and you can buy anything from mice to a toothbrush. Splendid pubs, packed and booming with music. If Hogarth had been a Hamburger, this is where he would have ended up.

Which Murder Worse?

From Quebec L'Action (A Translation)

THE federal cabinet has decided to present to the Commons a bill that, for a trial period of five years, would limit capital punishment solely to murderers convicted of slaying members of police forces or prison guards.

We realize immediately that the exceptions are aimed at protecting peace officers and workers in our penitentiaries and prisons. . . .

Would it be more criminal to kill a policeman or a prison guard than to kill the mother of a family, the father of a family or four children, as was the case in Quebec not too long ago?

From Washington

A month before the Russian Revolution of 1917 Lenin, who had dreamed of just that, was thinking he might never see it happen in his lifetime. This wasn't the only contradiction in what followed. Lenin's Bolsheviks were only a small minority, numbering perhaps 25,000 and with no plans for a takeover, at that time in March, 1917, when Czar Nicholas II was forced out and more moderate forces took over.

In the months that followed Lenin built up support, particularly among factory workers in Moscow and St. Petersburg, while the opposition remained split, disorganized, confused, and in some ways stupid.

The far better organized Bolsheviks, believing their change was then or never, made their daring grab for power Nov. 7, 1917, 50 years ago Tuesday. They have held that power since.

Will the Soviet Union change and become a democratic society with no dictatorship? It will, if it follows the pattern of the great revolutions of modern times. Those revolutions have been moving from West to East. All were too rigid starting out — Cromwell's Puritan revolution in England in the middle of the 17th century, the French revolution in the 18th century when the Jacobins had their own reign of terror. Hitler's mad regime which followed the German revolution after the First World War — all eventually were replaced by moderate, democratic societies.

Optimistic Kerensky Sees Thrust Towards Freedom

Kerensky

AP, from New York

Alexander F. Kerensky, overthrown as premier of Russia by Lenin's Bolsheviks in 1917, said Monday he foresees a future of freedom developing in the Soviet Union after 50 years of Communist rule.

Long a bitter critic of Communist dictatorship Kerensky took a mellow tone in an address delivered for him at an Overseas Press Club dinner. Summing up 50 years of Communist rule in the Soviet Union, he said:

"The time has come to abandon our pessimism in our evaluation of trends in the Soviet Union. The basic trend is the thrust toward freedom and this alone is sufficient cause for optimism.

"Five years ago it would have appeared beyond belief that the horrors, the blood, the sacrifices imposed on the Russian people were but transient events in their history.

"Today it should be clear to all that Russia is not to be measured or judged by 50-year spans, but by centuries upon centuries of her national traditions and her enduring spiritual heritage.

"The time is still distant before the Russian people can begin to breathe without fear. But this time will come to pass. Of this there can be no doubt.

"I don't have much longer to be on this earth (he is 86). I shall not see the resurrection of liberty in my land. But you will, and your children will — of this I am convinced. And when this rebirth of a radiant, free Russia comes to pass, it will rebound to the benefit of all mankind."

Quotable Thought

By JOHN RODERICK, from Tokyo

Quotation from Chairman Mao: "Every Communist must grasp the truth. 'Political power grows out of the barrel of a gun.'"

Every day since Nov. 1 the New China news agency has repeated these words between news items and at regular transmission breaks.

It is no coincidence that it did so during the week the Russians celebrated the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

For this familiar quotation from Chairman Mao Tse-tung epitomizes the struggle between the two big Communist countries and explains why China is boycotting the great Communist festival.

Mao says people's wars and permanent, violent revolutions are the keys to Communist victory. The Russians say it can be won through peaceful coexistence.

U.S. Economist Warns America:

Face Facts or Perish

By ROBERT THEOBALD

The recent march on Washington to protest the Vietnam war marks a major step in the continued fraying of the American social fabric. The tone of the speeches and the demonstrations was ugly. They assumed that those governing the United States are evil, that they are incapable of listening to reason and must be coerced if change is to be achieved.

Why have the Vietnam dissenters given up their reasoned attempts to convince those making policy that the course of action in Vietnam is highly dangerous? This shift was effectively forced by the administration, which has failed to give a forum for reasoned argument and has all too often dismissed the protests as the work of cranks.

Both the Administration and the dissenters now seem prepared to escalate their verbal and physical violence without limit. And both appear to be in grave danger of forgetting the basic issue: that there is no presently apparent method of averting disaster because of Vietnam.

Ever-Growing Violence

The present course of the United States involves continued extension of the war. The inherent dynamics of conflict make necessary ever-growing violence. At some point, therefore, we will so gravely threaten the national interest of Communist China that it will intervene: the threat of a third world war would then be imminent.

On the other hand, any evolution which removed America from the war without a clear-cut victory threatens disastrous consequences at home. At best, it will lead to the dominance of the isolationist mood, already so clearly evident.

Legislators would argue that domestic issues are so serious and urgent that the problems of the rest of the world must be "temporarily" set aside. Withdrawal would confirm the worldwide split between the rich and the poor.

At worst, one could expect a country internally racked by witch-hunts as patriotic legislators and citizens searched for those who had "betrayed" America to the enemy.

Trust All But Vanished

Vietnam is, of course, only one of the many areas in which communication and trust have all but vanished. Each group appears to be losing faith in the intelligence and goodwill of those they must convince if change is to occur.

Black power advocates confront the white society; student power advocates confront administrators and teachers; advocates of power for the poor confront the middleclass; even management and labor are returning to the violence of earlier years.

Increasingly the assumption is that only power, brutally expressed, can cause change.

The existing splits will intensify—and others will appear—under the impact of the present profound economic crisis. Costs of the Vietnam war are presently accepted as untouchable and major attempts to cut other items in the federal budget have therefore developed in an effort to minimize the federal deficit.

Economist Robert Theobald, author of The Rich and the Poor, and a frequent commentator on American social problems, is a member of the Columbia faculty seminar on technology and social change.

Because of political realities, however, it will be the programs which benefit the minority groups, the poor and the student which will suffer most. Incredibly, federal legislators seem blind to the social dynamite inherent in such cuts and apparently will act in ways which will still further increase their impact.

Pointers to Disaster

Examples of this trend are fresh: the legislation to take control of the poverty program out of the hands of the poor and place it in those of elected officials and, second, welfare legislation reminiscent of the poor laws in 18th-century Britain. This latter bill has already been accepted by the House.

It seems clear that these developments could lead to total disaster. Societies rest, in the last analysis, on the consent of all to their assigned rights and responsibilities. This consent has decayed in America under the impact of massive technological and environmental change.

The first step in reversing the present direction, therefore, is to help break some of the barriers of ignorance and apathy by informing Americans of the reality of the new world which they have already entered so that they can realistically consider what new patterns of rights and responsibilities should be developed.

Must Become Involved

A growing number of Americans are using almost all of their psychic energy to refuse to perceive the reality of a society in dissolution. As a result, they can spare no drive to invent the new world which is now feasible because of man's ever-growing power.

It is essential to help individuals to grasp both the problems of the present and the potential of the future and to discover how to minimize the dangers and maximize the potentials of a new world. Above all, to challenge them to be involved.

Arnold Toynbee has argued that cultures confronted with a changed environment must collapse. The growing power, abundance and communications capability of the United States make it possible to break this historical inevitability.

The minimum necessity for survival, however, is the assumption of personal responsibility for the task of discovering how man can be fully human in a technological era.

'England for the English' Proposed

CP, from London

Communist George Gale, faced with all the current talk of Scottish and Welsh resurgence, is contemplating — tongue in cheek — establishment of an English Nationalist party.

Writing in The Daily Mirror, Gale says he dearly hopes that the Scottish and Welsh nationalist parties, each flushed by a recent election victory, "succeed in their enterprises of separating Scotland and Wales from England."

He argued that some of Britain's worst laws were thought up by Celts. The joy-stifling limitations on public drinking time he blames on the late prime minister, Welshman David Lloyd George.

If the separatist dreams come true, "we English could proceed to create a civilized, humane, liberal and rich society here ... without all these damn Scotsmen and Welshmen cluttering up the place and nagging us about what is good for us ... and about how dreadfully we oppress them."

An English Nationalist party would at least give Englishmen parliamentary representation by their own compatriots. But among the results of any rigorous racial segregation would be "the practical difficulty of mixed marriages."

Included in the program of an English Nationalist party would be "health control posts along the Welsh Marches and regular patrols along the banks of the Tweed."

Gale says he personally has nothing against the Celtic interlopers. In fact, "some of my best friends are Scots and Welsh."

'Teachers Attempting To Create Ill Feeling'

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia school teachers are attempting to create ill feeling in this year's salary negotiations, Frank Beinder, president of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association, said Monday.

He disputed charges by the British Columbia Teachers' Federation that the province's school boards are not bargaining in good faith.

BAD FAITH

"The charge of bad faith in bargaining has occurred annually," Mr. Beinder said in a statement. "It would seem the interpretation of bargaining in bad faith by the teachers is simply a matter of not giving them everything they ask for."

"In the light of the obviously unfavorable financial climate, trustees must be commended on their strenuous efforts to be fair to the people they represent and the people who serve them."

Of the province's 83 school districts, 10 have reached settlements with teachers but seven of the settlements must still be approved by the teachers after being accepted by their negotiators.

'They Are Out to Kill You' Agent Told Murder Suspect

BARTOW, Fla. (UPI) — A Florida sheriff's bureau agent testified Monday he tried to scare accused murder mastermind John J. Sweet into exposing himself by posing as a Boston hood and telling Sweet there was a "contract" out to kill him.

Sweet, 51, is charged with first degree murder in the slaying of Sebring, Fla., citrusman-rancher Charles von Maxey Oct. 3, 1966. The prosecution has named Walter Bennett of Boston as one of three men Sweet allegedly paid to arrange Maxey's death.

SPECIAL AGENT

Norman Desilva, a special agent for the sheriff's bureau, testified at the opening of the second week of Sweet's trial that he was the man who contacted Sweet in Sebring after the Maxey murder and, posing as a fictitious Boston hoodlum, told Sweet, "I am looking for Walter. Walter is missing."

He said he also told Sweet, "There is some paper loose on the street in Boston." He explained this is gangland terminology for existence of a contract for Sweet's murder.

Desilva said the conversation with Sweet took place in a Highlands County roadside coffee house, and that he was driving a yellow car with a Massachusetts licence plate.

Maxey's widow, Irene, testified for the prosecution last week that Sweet was terrified after talking with a Massachusetts man who introduced himself to Sweet as Nick Valente, and who was driving a yellow car.

The widow also has testified she and Sweet were lovers and that Sweet hired Maxey's killers with $36,000 she gave him, in $100 bills.

Johnson Wins Friends

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The downward trend in President Johnson's popularity has halted since late August, says the Gallup Poll.

George Gallup's organization, the American Institute of Public Opinion, says that for a period of more than two months, the U.S. president's popularity rating has remained virtually unchanged.

As of now, 38 per cent of those questioned say they approve of the way the president is handling the job, with 50 per cent of those questioned expressing disapproval and 12 per cent with no opinion.

Volcano Ends Its Big Show

HILO, Hawaii (AP) — Halemauau crater turned silent today after erupting during the weekend and giving scientists and visitors a spectacular view of its lake of molten rock.

The eruption on Hawaii Island began early Sunday and ended about 1 a.m. today. The 536-foot crater had been silent for six years.

Molten rock gushed up through three vents after a series of earthquakes early Sunday. The fountains were shooting from 150 to 250 feet at times.

Halemauau is about 30 miles from Hilo, the largest city on Hawaii Island, about 190 miles southeast of Honolulu.

Meet the Mercedes-Benz Diesel, the long-life car. (87% of its ancestors are alive today).

 Mercedes-Benz built the world's first Diesel-powered passenger car 31 years ago.

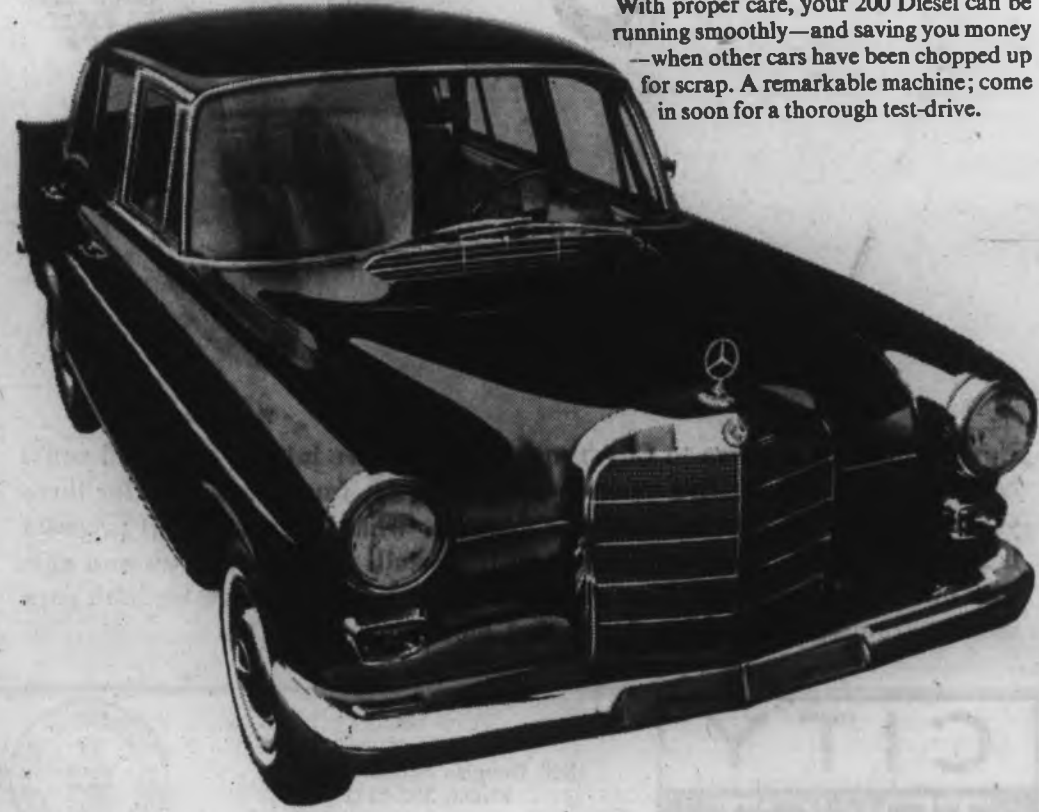

Today's version gives up to 30 miles per gallon in normal driving, and does it so smoothly that "many unsuspecting passengers are surprised to learn that they've been riding in a Diesel," according to CAR LIFE magazine.

Besides fuel economy, the 200 Diesel saves you money in the parts you'll never have to repair or replace. There are no sparkplugs, points, condensers or distributors. And Diesels stand up while other cars are falling apart: eighty-seven per cent of all Mercedes-Benz Diesel cars built since 1936 are still in running condition.

Economical as it is, the 200 Diesel is also comfortable. Mercedes-Benz engineering know-how provides the jolt-free riding ease of fully-independent suspension. The sure stopping power of front disc brakes. And the rugged durability of a body welded in 10,000 places, armed with 48 pounds of rustproofing.

With proper care, your 200 Diesel can be running smoothly—and saving you money—when other cars have been chopped up for scrap. A remarkable machine; come in soon for a thorough test-drive.

and systems checking, and in December it will take to water for two months of sea trials.

The first craft has been purchased by British Railways for use on the cross-Channel service. The service is expected to start next summer.

The layout chosen for British Railways is one that will accommodate 254 passengers and 30 cars. It will make the 20-mile crossing in 30 minutes, compared with 80 minutes for the fastest ferry ship.

Alternative layouts will enable future SRNs to carry up to 800 people on short commuter routes.

Work is advancing on three more SRN-4s at Cowes.

EXTRA FROM INCO

International Nickel Company of Canada will pay its shareholders an extra dividend of 20 cents in December, raising its annual dividend for the year to $3.00.

Next year when the quarterly dividend as this year was 70 cents, the big Sudbury mining company paid $2.80 a share.

The announcement was made subsequently to a disclosure that Inco's third quarter net profit was $32,077,000 ($1.07) compared with $15,766,000 (53 cents) in the corresponding period of 1965 when the company had labor trouble.

GM SHOWS PAYOUT
On the other hand, the world's largest corporation, General Motors, announced its year-end dividend this December would be reduced to $1.25 against $1.50 in 1965.

GM's dividends for the year will be $3.80 against $4.55 last year, despite the company's 45-per-cent gain in third quarter earnings. This, however, failed to equate earlier reduced earnings which remain 15 per cent below 1965.

LEVY'S DEAL
The expected deal concerning Levy Industries of Toronto was reported Monday when Allen, Gentry and Equipment of Chicago emerged as the purchaser.

Levy's of Toronto are being offered about $12.50 cash for each common share with the remainder in Allen stock having a current market value of about $47.50.

Although the potential offer is for $60 per share, the market reacted to the news coolly and Levy common shares dipped to $38.50, active trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

HIGH RATIO
Observers point out that although Allen shares trade on the American Stock Exchange at about $65, they are selling at 60 times earnings, which on market logic is high.

Ben Levy, president of Levy, says once the deal is completed he will become the largest single shareholder of Allen.

France Finds Ottawa Ally

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada does not consider France a "security risk" within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Industry Minister Drury said Monday.

He was replying to questions in the Commons about a new Canada-France agreement to co-operate in defence production research and development.

Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary North), former Conservative defence minister, asked how the agreement would leave Canada in relation to her other NATO partners in view of reports that France and Russia have adopted a military exchange and co-operative training program.

France was being looked upon "as somewhat of a security risk" in some NATO circles, Mr. Harkness said.

Mr. Drury said he could not accept the description of France as a security risk.

He also told Marcel Lambert (PC—Edmonton West) that the Canada-France agreement involves only two countries rather than two NATO members. In reply to a question from David Pugh (PC—Okanagan-Boundary) he said he believes Canada's other NATO partners were aware of the discussions leading up to the bilateral agreement.

Peace Use Opposed

GENEVA (CP)—Canada dismissed as "complete nonsense" today a Brazilian proposal that countries signing a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons should still be allowed to manufacture nuclear devices for peaceful purposes.

Brazil has produced an amendment to the joint United States-Soviet Union draft treaty whereby all countries would be permitted to go ahead with "research production and use of nuclear explosive devices for civil uses."

Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief Canadian delegate to the 17-nation disarmament conference, said experts have already made it clear that there is no difference between a nuclear explosive or weapon and a nuclear explosion for peaceful purposes.

Russia-Canada Defence Linked?

LONDON (AP)—Russian troops are training with French forces in France as part of a Franco-Soviet military exchange program, the Sunday Telegraph reports.

The newspaper also says the Soviet Union has made "secret overtures" for bilateral military contacts with Canada and Belgium who, like France, are members of the North Atlantic Treaty organization. It says Canada rejected an invitation for Gen. J. V. Allard, chief of the Canadian defence staff, to visit Moscow.

Gordon Brook-Shepherd, assistant editor of the Sunday

Telegraph, says in a dispatch from Brussels that France is being increasingly regarded by her 14 NATO partners as "an outright security risk as well as a huge operational question mark."

He reports France and the Soviet Union are discussing joint military staff talks and even the exchange of staff officers at each others' headquarters.

Brook-Shepherd reports the Soviet Union invited the chief of the Canadian defence staff to Moscow for this week's celebrations marking the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Canada, the editor says, brought the matter to the attention of the NATO political advisers' committee. Learning it was the only country approached, Canada rejected the invitation.

The Russians are reported by the newspaper to have extended a standing invitation to the Belgians to send a military staff team to visit the Soviet Union. The advance guard of Red Army troops training in France is described as a detachment of paratroopers at the main French airborne training school at Salon de Provence, near Pau.

Marshal M. V. Zakharov, Soviet chief of general staff, is reported to have watched a squad of eight of them jump with French paratroopers in an airborne exercise last month.

'Absolute Nonsense'

OTTAWA (CP)—A London report that the Soviet Union has made secret overtures for bilateral military contacts with Canada and had invited Canada's Gen. Jean V. Allard to Moscow was called "absolute nonsense" Monday by Gen. Allard.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator). Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Next time you're in the woods and you see someone with a spray gun marking certain trees with blue paint, don't call a forester. A forester planned this and the man is just doing his job. He's marking trees that are crowding their neighbors. Later, they'll be harvested by logging crews.

Nature seldom provides the careful spacing young trees require to grow their biggest and fastest. Overcrowding robs some of them of sunlight and soil nutrient. The underprivileged trees become stunted; many die. Worse, they also prevent their healthy neighbors from reaching their optimum growth.

So we thin them out when they reach a harvestable size—say by age thirty or so. And B.C.'s entire forest economy gains in two ways. First, because we turn into pulp and other marketable products trees that would otherwise die. Second, because vigorous growth of the remaining well-spaced young trees results in a much larger total yield of quality timber.

Commercial thinning of second growth stands is one of many things MB is doing to secure more jobs from the forests of today—and a bigger, better crop for tomorrow.

That blue paint marks a rosy future for the forests.

Canada Will Fight Quotas on Imports

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Sharp said Monday the Canadian government will seek import quotas on Canadian goods.

He gave the reply in the Commons in response to pleas by opposition spokesmen the government make sure Canada can retaliate if the United States or other trading partners impose import quotas on Canadian goods.

FLEXIBLE LAW

NDP Leader Douglas and George Hees (PC—Northumberland) both said Canadian tariff laws, now up for revision, must be "flexible" enough to enable the cabinet to answer any restrictive action by delaying or even withdrawing Canadian trade concessions.

Some members of the U.S. congress, including Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen, are advocating import quotas, despite the fact the United States, along with Canada and 49 other countries, recently agreed to make sweeping tariff cuts.

NOTICE GIVEN

The issue came up when Mr. Sharp gave notice the government will soon introduce legislation enabling Canada to implement this agreement. He said it is proposed to reduce some tariffs in one step on Jan. 1, 1968, and others by stages over a period no longer than four years.

RIVIERE DU LOUP, Que. — Leo Casgrain, 75, a retired justice of Quebec Superior Court and former provincial cabinet minister, has died after a lengthy illness.

Sharp Pledges Canadian Plan

Economy Needs Steady Climb

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Sharp said Monday his plan to mobilize public support for restraints on costs and prices will be a distinctive Canadian approach to the problem, and not a copy of any other country's guidelines.

Mr. Sharp told a meeting of representatives of 40 major municipalities that "everyone's job" depends on keeping Canada competitive in international markets, and that holding back costs and prices is everyone's responsibility.

GUIDELINES

"Some people have called it a guidelines policy, but guidelines means anything you want it to mean," Mr. Sharp said. "I do not intend to imitate any other country. Our problem is different. We need a Canadian approach, related to Canadian facts and Canadian circumstances."

CASH PLEDGE

Mayor V. M. Dantzer of Edmonton, federation president, opened the one-hour and 40-minute meeting with a pledge on behalf of the municipalities that they would try to follow any federal and provincial lead towards reducing government expenditures.

Mr. Sharp said the objective of current federal policy is not to dampen down the economy, but to maintain its growth at a steady rate. The economy was bursting at its seams last year, and the government is trying to get it back to a rate of growth that can be maintained without excessive cost and price pressures.

Mayor Dantzer said one problem the municipalities face is a backlog of requirements remaining from the Great Depression and the Second World War.

The federal government can trim its grants to the provinces, and the provinces can restrict the spending of municipalities, "but the buck stops at the municipal level," he said.

He called for federal-provincial solution of the high cost of education, now taking about half of municipal tax dollars. He also proposed the senior levels of government help the municipalities set up land banks to control the rising cost of serviced building lots.

Alderman Earle Adams of Vancouver said the 8½-per-cent ceiling on National Housing Act guaranteed mortgages has been misunderstood.

Hellyer Tells Students

War Materials Help Canadian Education

OTTAWA (CP) — Grace MacInnis (NDP—Vancouver-Kingsway) tried twice without success Monday to quiz Transport Minister Hellyer in the Commons about war material for Vietnam.

She was ruled out of order both times by Speaker Lucien Lamoureux.

Mrs. MacInnis referred to press reports of Mr. Hellyer's meeting with students at the University of Toronto during the weekend. She referred to Mr. Hellyer's reported comment that sale by Canada of material that winds up being used by the U.S. in the Vietnam war helps to pay for university education in Canada.

ONLY QUESTION

Mr. Lamoureux ruled that the only question Mrs. MacInnis could ask was whether the minister's comment represented government policy.

Ed Schreyer (NDP—Springfield) then asked Mr. Hellyer whether the government would increase its contributions to education as it increased the supply of materials destined for Vietnam. There seemed to be "some relationship" between these two things in Mr. Hellyer's mind.

Mr. Hellyer declined an invitation to make a full statement on his meeting but added the questioning MPs should not take "too seriously" some things they read in newspapers.

Castaways moved back into a first-place tie with University Sunday in the Victoria Rugby Union by clipping Cowichan 12-5 at Dunsmuir.

beaten as goalkeeper Kjeld Brodsgaard notched his fifth shutout, stopping Claremont, 3-0, at Lochside Park.

In the other scheduled game, Esquimalt, unable to field a team, defaulted to Oak Bay.

Tyees now concentrate on the completion of the Colonist Cup, which would mean a chance to play for the Island and B.C. championships.

FOR COLONIST CUP

They meet Mount View Hornets in the sudden-death cup final on Friday. The winner carries on to the Island final the following Friday.

Game time and site will be announced later this week.

All three Tyees came in the first half, Stu Wallace got the first on a pass from Glen Robinson and Graham Taylor beat Rick Holmes almost immediately when his shot deflected off a defender.

Brodsgaard completed the scoring with his fourth goal of the season, almost certainly a record for goalkeepers. He scored again on a penalty kick.

City Bowler Wins B.C. Crown

NANAIMO — Muriel Dodsworth of Victoria, who averaged almost 182 pins in the 20-game zone roll-off, Sunday continued her fine bowling to win the provincial ladies' tenpin championship by spilling 1,806 pins in the 10-game final.

Miss Dodsworth, who finished 91 pins ahead of her nearest opponent, got away to a slow start with opening games of 158 and 168 and finished with a 154 but she was homing in on the pocket in between with games of 182, 181, 182, 182, 203, 189 and 207.

Next in line with 1,715 was Louisa Smith of Vancouver. Marion Lewis of New Westminster was third with 1,693 and Jackie Dick of Nanaimo fourth with 1,561.

Dora Allan of Nanaimo topped the "B" division with 1,740 with the two Victoria representatives, Babe Ross and Vivian Morgan, next in line with 1,680 and 1,637 pins, respectively.

Colquitz Boys Capture Title

NANAIMO — Colquitz of Victoria retained the Vancouver Island junior high school soccer championship over the weekend, scoring three victories without allowing a goal in knockout play involving eight schools.

Defeated finalist was Victoria Central, which allowed but one goal in three games.

The all-Victoria final came about when Colquitz defeated Courtenay-Comox, 5-0 in the quarter-finals, then stopped Alberni, 1-0, in the semi-finals on a goal by Dean Strickland while Central was disposing of Nanaimo's John Barsby, 2-0, and Lake Cowichan, 5-0.

Goalkeeper Brian Dullin came up with his third straight shutout in the final and Bruce Twamley produced the goal he needed for the win.

Keith Dagg Topples Ex-World Champions

VANCOUVER — Keith Dagg of the Victoria Curling Club upstaged his more famous brother, Lyall, and quite a number of other world famous curlers at the Vancouver Curling Club on Sunday by winning the $2,000 first prize in the first annual Evergreen Tournament of Champions.

Skipping the same rink which last spring won one of the two Vancouver Island zone berths in the Pacific Coast Curling Association playdowns — brother Ray, Jack Trueman and Barry Harvey — Keith literally astounded the curling world with his victory over what was rated the finest rink ever assembled for a B.C. curling event.

SEVEN STRAIGHT WINS

Keith, who will have to get a replacement for Ray, who moved back to Vancouver last summer, for the playdowns this season, won his first game against Bud Long of Vancouver, was dropped into the "B" event by U.S.-champion Bruce Roberts in his second game, then rattled off seven straight nerve-tangling victories.

The Islanders, steady and often brilliant, made the most of the breaks and misses that came their way. They defeated Roy Vinthers and Barry Naimark of Vancouver, Ernie Straden of Prince George and Dave Peterson of Comox in that order to qualify for the eight-rink final.

TWO WORLD CHAMPS

That in itself was quite a parlay, but it was nothing compared with what was accomplished Sunday, when they bowled over two former world champions, Hec Gervais of Edmonton and Ron Northcott of Calgary, around a victory over Roberts.

A wide-open miss by Northcott on the 11th end of the final was the big shot of the 5-4 final — a shot that meant a difference of $1,200 to the Calgary foursome, which included Jim Shields, Bernie Sparks and Fred Stovey.

Never able to pull away but with the game going his way, Northcott had a 4-2 lead after nine ends and had three counters on the 10th end when Dagg squatted in the back for the last rock of the end. He drew in for 3-4 but was in serious trouble on the 11th with Northcott counting four and holding last-rock edge with the skips down to one rock each.

MISSSED FIVE-ENDER

Dagg couldn't make the necessary freeze, his rock coming to rest at the back of the four-foot ring and out in the open. The Victoria skip had removed his glove in preparation for the traditional hand-shake when Northcott, not caring whether he stayed for five, fired a sizzling runner.

It was an inch or two wide, Dagg replaced his glove and set about trying to set up a second steal.

With one rock left for each skip on the home end, Northcott had a "saver" in the 12-foot ring and Dagg had a chance to draw behind cover. He pulled in to the four-foot ring, his rock partially exposed.

RUBBED OFF GUARD

With no need to stick to win, Northcott appeared to play for the chip, rubbed off the guarding rock and the Victorians had accomplished the impossible.

It was just one in a series of close ones for the champions. They got by Gervais, 10-9, in the quarter-finals, after breaking a tie with four on the ninth end and a steal of two on the 10th, then had to battle from behind to defeat Roberts, 11-10, in the semi-finals.

Roberts was ahead, 6-2 and 7-4 in the early going. Dagg stole two on the seventh but Roberts came back with a deuce on the eighth end to lead 9-6. Dagg then got a par on the ninth and stole a par on the 10th to take a 10-9 lead. Roberts blanked the 11th but could get only one on the 12th and Dagg won it on the extra end with a hit and stick.

EXTRA-ENDS COMMON

It was the 18th extra-end game of the 16-rink competition, which had a total of 35 games decided by one rock.

It appeared for a while that it might become an all-Dagg final. Lyall reached the semi-finals with a come-from-behind, 10-9, win over Buzz McGibney of Trail, who had a five-rock edge after nine ends only to lose on the 13th.

Lyall had to meet Northcott in the semis. He stole three on the seventh end to go two rocks ahead but Northcott was back with four on the eighth and stole one on the ninth for a 9-6 lead. Lyall got two back on the 10th.

Next game: Thursday-Killarney vs. North Shore.

Two Sunday form reversals allowed Victoria Chinooks to regain a tie for the Inter-City Junior Men's Basketball League lead.

Beaten in Vancouver by Killarney, 53-48, on Saturday night when they fell down in the late stages, Chinooks took no chances of a late letdown Sunday as they evened the score against Saturday's victors with a smashing 83-49 victory.

That left Chinooks tied with Vancouver CYO, who did a reverse reversal. CYO grabbed the lead Saturday night by routing Vancouver IGA, 83-42, but lost the return match Sunday, 63-62, when Bill Bazulik stole the ball in the late second and raced in for a layup which produced the tying and winning points.

In Sunday's other game, played at the University of Victoria, North Shore handed Uvic Jayvees their sixth straight loss in a still winless season, 53-51.

TOP KILLARNEY

Only Ron Olynik and Gary Field, with 19 and 11 points, respectively, could do much for Killarney.

Stan Piper threw in 14 points and John Levering 13 as Jayvees just missed their first victory.

Chinooks and CYO, both 5-1 and two points ahead of IGA and Killarney with one and two games in hand, respectively, face up for the first time this weekend with games at Central Junior High School at 8:30 p.m. Saturday and 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

Next games: Tonight at Oak Bay Senior High School—Red Lion vs. Independent at 8; Farmers vs. Labatts at 8:30.

Joe Patterson and Ed Kowalyk led Labatts into a first-place tie in the Victoria Senior Men's Basketball League on Sunday, scoring 18 and 14 points, respectively, at the University of Victoria gymnasium to end Independents' win streak of five games with a 49-44 victory.

Bill Spotswood, who fouled out in the second half, scored 20 points for the losers but Darrell Lorimer, who pumped in 42 points against Colony Inn last Thursday, was held to three field goals.

Both clubs have 5-1 records and are two points ahead of Colony Inn, which handed winless Red Lion its seventh defeat, 74-53, in Sunday's other game.

Two Soccer Jackpots In a Row

ROME (AP)—For the second week in a row some lucky Italian has won more than a half-million dollars by guessing everything right in the national soccer pool.

By picking all 13 winners in advance of Sunday's games, the Roman — as yet unidentified — hit it even bigger. His card will pay 366,000,000 lire, $685,600.

That's the most any single player has ever won.

Soccer World Shaken by Brawling

LONDON (AP)—Brawling players and flat-swinging fans have sent world soccer spinning to the edge of anarchy.

This was the grim tale after one of the blackest weekends in the game's history.

The Federation of International Football Associations called for an inquiry into Saturday's savage World Club title clash in Montevideo, Uruguay. Five players, three from Glasgow Celtic of Scotland and two from Racing Club of Argentina, were sent off the field and police broke up brawls between the teams.

Hungarian referee Jozsef Gere was in hospital in Vienna after being hit with a bottle by a spectator in a riotous end to the Austria-Greece European Cup of Nations match. Gere abandoned the game as fans and police fought on the field.

A group of English League referees threatened to resign if they are not given better protection against unruly fans.

Jimmy Scouler, manager of English Division II team Cardiff City, said he was punched in the face by a spectator at the end of his team's league match against Millwall.

WILL REPORT CHELSEA
A Liverpool fan was sent to jail for a month for punching a policeman at the Tottenham Hotspur-Liverpool game. The man, William Oulson, 21, was one of the fans who were escorted from the stadium after fighting behind one of the goals.

English referee Keith Stiles said he is reporting the Chelsea

Peterborough United, English Division III team, faced possible expulsion from the league on a charge of making illegal payments to players. English League officials have examined the club's books.

BOUND TO TAKE ACTION
The Celtic-Racing Club fracas in Montevideo dominated the stormy headlines on British sports pages. Racing won the game 1-0.

Sir Stanley Rous, president of FIFA, said: "FIFA is bound to take some action in this disturbing matter when we receive reports from referee, the clubs and the football associations concerned."

Uplands Ladies Elect Officers
Mrs. G. H. Lovitt has been elected captain of the women's division of the Uplands Golf Club.

Mrs. Joan Lawson was named vice-captain. Mrs. A. W. Flinton secretary and Mrs. H. G. McWilliams treasurer. Elected to the committee were Mrs. W. C. Higgins, Mrs. R. Humphreys, Mrs. C. H. Hamrell, Mrs. R. H. Maryweather, Mrs. R. A. Storror, Mrs. G. Dark and Mrs. J. B. Tribe.

Deserters from U.S. Immigration Problem

TORONTO (UPI)—About 75 deserters from U.S. military forces currently are in Canada and are posing a new problem for immigration officials already plagued by youths fleeing here to avoid the draft, it was disclosed Sunday.

Kenneth McNaught, a University of Toronto history professor, discussed the problem in an article in the weekly magazine of the Toronto Star, entitled "After the draft dodgers: American deserters — and why we should let them in, too."

ACCURATE FIGURE

"While it is hard to get an accurate figure for Canada," McNaught said, "there are probably 75 deserters who already have made their way here. That number is certain to grow rapidly."

Informed guesses have put the number of draft-evading Americans now in Canada at about 6,000 — most of them emigrating due to opposition to the U.S. war in Vietnam. But the question of American deserters previously has received little notice.

DRAFT DODGERS

McNaught said Canadian immigration policy toward the draft dodgers is "an unpleasant mixture of hypocrisy among high officials and inadequate supervision at lower echelons."

The professor said that while 6,000 draft opponents have gotten through immigration, "evidence accumulated by aid groups in Toronto and Vancouver strongly suggests that as many more have been rejected or frightened away by hard-nosed cold-warriors who man some of our immigration desks."

He said the problem of the deserters "threatens even more complicated problems."

"Since deserters and draft dodgers are bound equally by American law," McNaught said, "they obviously should be treated alike by Canada. They are not — nor is the actual policy in either case consistent with our deepest traditions."

Canada Chrysler

Strike Favored By 97 Per Cent

WINDSOR (CP)—The United Auto Workers Union in Canada is poised for strike action against Chrysler Canada Ltd. on Nov. 15 following a 97 per cent vote in favor of a walkout.

About 3,000 members of Local 444 of the UAW cast ballots here Sunday giving solid membership backing "if and when the union gives the go-ahead," a spokesman said.

Meanwhile, negotiations on a new three-year contract continue here. The old contract expires Nov. 15, one week after expiry of the Chrysler Corp. contract in the United States.

SMALL TURNOUT

The voting Sunday represented less than one-third of the Chrysler employees in Windsor, where 9,500 of the Canadian total of 13,000 are employed,

Jerry Hartford, public relations director for the UAW in Canada, said "big table talks" will begin Tuesday on both sides of the border, where wage parity for Canadian and U.S. union members is regarded as a major issue in bargaining.

In Detroit, cars rolled off Ford Motor Co. assembly lines Monday for the first time since Sept. 6, when the United Auto Workers went on strike against the No. 2 auto-maker and won record gains for 160,000 UAW members at Ford.

At Chrysler, the union's No. 2 target, bargainiers worked against a Wednesday night deadline to come up with a contract covering the firm's 95,000 production workers and 8,000 salaried workers represented by the union in the U.S.

Some heating fuels give you "extras" you'd be better off without. Like fumes and soot. With electric heat, no fuel is burned so no dirt is created to mar your furnishings. You get even, comfortable heat; operating costs are low, and your heating system requires little or no maintenance. Come to think of it, electric heat does give you one extra... the extra resale value it adds to your home. As the trend to all-electric living continues, more and more homebuyers will be demanding modern, efficient electric heat. That could mean a lot when the time comes to sell.

The EXCELSIOR LIFE Insurance Company

For several hours Monday, 150 members of the B.C. Motels and Resorts Association argued the question at their annual meeting in Holyrood House.

"We're just in the primary stages of getting certification," a member said. "We want certification for our motel and resort owners, like the Real Estate Board did for its industry several years ago."

He added: "It's a very heated question. But it would professionalize our industry."

WATCH PRICES
The association's four-day convention winds up tonight. Also Monday, Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan urged motel and resort operators: "Don't price yourself out of the tourist market."

Mr. Kiernan said British Columbia must establish a reputation for fair dealing and fair pricing, as well as hospitality, to keep up with the increasingly competitive tourist industry.

"If we do that, I believe we have as good a travel package to sell as any country in the world—and, as yet, I don't think we've even scratched the surface of our tourist potential."

'IN OUR INTERESTS'
Just back from a tour of Europe, Mr. Kiernan said B.C. could learn much from Austria in the way of tourist techniques, but didn't think Canadians would accept the kind of price control that is practised by the Austrian Chamber of Commerce—practically an arm of the government.

"But it is very much in our interests to exercise that control voluntarily," he said.

"The world is shrinking in terms of travel time, which means we will have to compete with more and more countries." Election of officers and an inaugural ball will conclude the convention.

Fear Not, Men Just Sip Water

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — The Singapore government is seeking to calm thousands of men who fear their manhood is threatened by a mysterious ailment sweeping the city.

The trouble started with rumors that men who ate meat from pigs vaccinated against swine fever were liable to catch a disease called "koro."

At a press conference organized Monday by the Singapore authorities, a group of senior doctors said "koro" is a purely psychological ailment caused by mass hysteria.

The treatment for "koro" is simple, said Dr. Gwee Ah Leng. Men who report to government hospitals are given a glass of water and told there is nothing wrong with them. "After this assurance they return home happily," Dr. Gwee said.

Old Y Placed On the Block

The old YMCA building at Blanchard and View, which since its abandonment has been the subject of some angry observations in city council, will go on the auction block in 10 days. The building will be sold at the Law Courts at 11 a.m. Nov. 15.

A spokesman for Commonwealth Trust, plaintiff in the action forcing the sale, and holder of the original $80,000 mortgage on the structure, said Monday it was likely the buyer would tear the building down.

Aldermanic objections have been based on the fact the building was gutted inside and left for months, creating a dangerous fire hazard. Since then the building has been cleaned up.

The Saanich Fruit Growers' Association is not interested in the revival of a farmers' market in Victoria, says T. G. Michell of Central Saanich, president. The idea of selling vegetables and flowers in Chancery Lane and Boomerang Court is being investigated by Victoria council, Mr. Michell said his organization was "strictly wholesale," and the market revival will be up to the backyard gardeners.

The 8,000-ton freighter Marie Skou, being repaired at Yarrow in Victoria after losing its bow Sept. 20 with the 40,000-ton Chitose Maru, may be back in service within 10 days. The Marie Skou will be taken out of drydock Saturday and is expected to be completely repaired less than a week later. The Chitose Maru already has been repaired.

Oak Bay Councillor:

Cut Library Budget Despite Demands

The Greater Victoria Library Board should slash its proposed operating costs despite its increasing need for facilities, Oak Bay councillor J. D. Watts said Monday.

BOARD INCREASE
"I think the library board should take a rather sharp pencil to its estimated budget. I know we've got to have all these library facilities but I don't think we want to pay all this for it," Coun. Watts told council.

His comments followed submission of a letter by the library board which said it will seek an increase to $6.34 per capita in 1971 from $3.50 this year.

The board said that during the next four years it planned to open branches in Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Mount Tolmie area, and would also purchase a new bookmobile.

COST LIST
Operating costs would be: 1968, $640,000 at $4.27 per capita; 1969, $725,000 at $4.85 per capita; 1970, $810,000 at $5.41 per capita; and 1971, $850,000 at $6.34 per capita.

Coun. Watts said: "I don't think we want to increase our per capita costs by 50 per cent over the next four years."

GOVERNMENT HELP
Councillor Frances Elford said: "There is a need for more government support for libraries and we hope there is a sizeable contribution from the government in the not-too-distant future."

Coun. Elford added: "We need something better in salaries to attract librarians to Victoria. The only thing we've had in the past is the weather."

DUNCAN — Chairman of the Cowichan School Board Dr. Neil Dornan said Monday night he will not seek re-election to the board or to any other office this December. He has been on the board for the past four years.

Dorning Says Goodbye

He said "I hope somebody will compete for the mayor's position in the City of Duncan. We should have a choice on such an important position." So far only Ald. Hamish Mutter has declared he will run for mayor this December.

Salesman-of-the-year

The secret of making a business grow is, in most cases, quite simple—win more and more customers spread over a wider and wider area. Nothing helps you find them, sell them, satisfy them and re-sell them so quickly and economically as the skilled use of your telephone. Here are just a few profit-making ideas.

Call for Orders

This big-city truck dealer has no problem about keeping in touch with his many customers and prospects in distant parts of the province.

Head office sales staff follow up leads, arrange demonstrations, solicit orders and maintain contact with established customers by a carefully planned routine of Long Distance calls.

Think of the convenience! He has his customers at his fingertips and keeps right up with their requirements. Cost is negligible compared with operating local offices.

Finally, this dealer also lists a ZENITH number in key centres like Nanaimo, Kamloops and Prince George. It enables customers and prospects there to call him without cost to themselves—another valuable business builder!

Salesman on the Wing

This salesman is on a trip through his company's market area, extending from Vancouver to the Lakehead. One of the most useful things he carries is his B.C. TEL Long Distance Credit Card.

This enables him to make Long Distance calls from anywhere. He uses it constantly to confirm appointments at his next stopover and contact inconveniently located accounts.

He also keeps in daily touch, of course, with head office: reporting on progress; channeling orders, queries and complaints for fast action; collecting fresh leads as he flies from point to point.

His periodic "swing through the territory" is quite an expensive item of overhead. Long Distance ensures, at minimum cost, that his company gets every last cent of value from it.

"Touring" by Phone

This busy Sales Manager, "touring" his area in a morning—with B.C. TEL's Sequence Calling service.

He simply gives the operator the list of Long Distance numbers he wants. She gets them for him in the right order and at the intervals most convenient for his other work.

He holds regular Conference Calls, too, with his company's three other offices in Calgary, Winnipeg and Toronto—all four of them on the line together, talking and listening as though they were in the same room.

There's no end to the profit-making uses of properly planned Long Distance calling. Ask one of our experienced Communication Experts to explain some of the possibilities for your business—naturally without obligation. Contact him TODAY.

"In Victoria call 386-2211"
If calling long distance, ask the operator for ZENITH 7000 (there is no charge).

First Shot Works In Space Special

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A multi-purpose ATS III "pinball" satellite was successfully "parked" over Brazil on Monday as a moon-chemical rocket named Surveyor VI was poised to rocket toward a lunar plain so rugged the spacecraft has less than a 50-50 chance to land safely.

EVEN JINK

And in the final event of Cape Kennedy's space tripleheader this week, work was reported "on schedule" for an unmanned flight test Thursday of the first 363-foot-tall Saturn V rocket—the type of booster which one day is to propel astronauts to the moon.

Surveyor VI, perched atop a powerful Atlas-Centaur rocket, was scheduled to head for the moon during a favorable launching period between 2:22 a.m. and 3:17 a.m. EST today in an attempt to break the even-number jinx in the Surveyor program. Surveyors III and V successfully soft-landed on the lunar surface while Surveyors II and IV failed.

After a 65-hour, 231,416-mile flight in space, Surveyor VI was to settle softly on crater-pocked Sinus Medii—a potential Apollo astronaut landing zone located squarely in the middle of the moon's visible face as seen from earth.

Surveyor VI was equipped with a revolving television camera eye and a small chemistry set to analyse the soil. Surveyor V's terrain tester indicated much of the moon's surface may consist of earth-like rock.

MOON MIDDLE

Sinus Medii is the only potential astronaut landing zone not photographed by a Surveyor, they said, and its location in the middle of the moon would add new launch opportunities for man-to-the-moon flights if it could be certified as safe for men to walk upon.

The multi-purpose ATS III satellite was successfully parked in a stationary orbit high over Brazil. It had been launched Sunday from Cape Kennedy.

STEEL BALLS

The satellite's equipment includes three baseball-sized steel balls which give it the "pinball" nickname.

Plans call for the balls to be ejected during a navigational test.

Sensors aboard the satellite will determine if the balls can be used as navigation aids for space vehicles instead of the stars from which bearings usually are taken.

Prospector Returns With 'Space Silver'

CALGARY — An intensive search for prospector Lorne Groves, 30, ended when he sauntered along the Kanaraskis-Coleman Highway to an RCMP patrol car, protesting that he had not been lost at all.

Groves who went into heavy bush country about six days earlier, to search for an object he claims fell from an unidentified flying object in July, said he had run out of food and was returning to his car.

He saw a searching helicopter but thought it was out looking for "some greenhorn hunter."

Groves told his "rescuers" that he brought back earth samples, including "silver droplets" he had scraped from a hole in the ground.

There was evidence of fire round the hole, he said.

Although he was grateful to the searchers, he said he did not want help.

"I'm as tough as nails. I usually mind my own business. Then other people start minding mine," he commented.

Big Cattle Epidemic Hits British Farms

OSWESTRY, England (CP) — A fast-moving epidemic of foot-and-mouth disease is sweeping through rich farming country in this north-west area and more than 21,000 animals already have been slaughtered.

The desolate work of slaughter and mass burial, which may cost the government millions in compensation to farmers, involves cattle, pigs and sheep.

BLISTER PROBLEM

Infected animals and others in contact with them must be killed as a means of halting the disease, symptoms of which take the form of blisters affecting the feet and mouth. The disease causes death in some cases.

In one district of Cheshire, a single cow was found infected and three dairy herds had to be destroyed.

DENSELY STOCKED

As the epidemic headed into the most densely stocked of Britain's dairy regions, about 1,000 men worked in a massive counter-action.

Foot and mouth is a virus disease which can be carried in the bone marrow of carcasses and by humans from one animal to the next.

The current outbreak has spread with what some specialists call unprecedented speed. One theory is that migratory birds, especially starlings, may have figured in the spread.

HOLLYWOOD — A star of the television series Dakari, Cheryl Miller and LA Charles, hostess of Beverly Hills announced their engagement at a family party.

CALGARY — Pat Clark, Miss Calgary Stampeder in the 1967 Miss Grey Cup contest, is in hospital with accidental second- and third-degree burns to her face.

An official said a decision will be made in the next few days on whether the 20-year-old university student will withdraw from the Miss Grey Cup competition.

She was burned at a Calgary hotel when a flaming desert pan was knocked over and "flared up."

VANCOUVER — Cleve Carter, 21, of North Vancouver has been elected president of the B.C. Young Socialists. He succeeds Delbert Doll of Vancouver, president now of the Vancouver-Burrard Social Credit constituency association.

LONDON — Dame Margaret Thatcher, 75, is reported in "good spirits" after slipping on a rug in her hotel near Rome and fracturing a thigh bone. She was flown to Britain for surgery.

VATICAN CITY — A smiling and lively Pope Paul VI discussed church business for a few minutes from his bed only 48 hours after surgery to remove his prostate gland, Vatican sources said.

MORRISTOWN, N.J. — After 14 hours, an all-white jury of 10 men and two women found Negro playwright-poet LeRoi Jones, 33, and author Barry Ryan, 23, and Charles McCray, 33, co-defendants, guilty of possessing weapons during the Newark riots in July. Sentencing was set for Nov. 28.

Escape By Trunk

PARIS (UPI) — More than 150,000 policemen staged the most massive manhunt in recent French history Monday for a killer-terrorist who climbed into a trunk and escaped like the Count of Monte Cristo from an island prison.

Police had arrested 227 people in their nation-wide dragnet, but Claude Tenne, 31, a convicted killer for the secret army organization which opposed Algerian independence, remained at large.

Security was tightened around President de Gaulle during his tour in the southeastern region of France Monday. Police feared that Tenne might try to revenge himself and his organization in some way.

LIFE SENTENCE

Tenne, who escaped over the weekend, had been serving a life sentence at the maximum security prison on the island of Saint Martin de Re. He was sentenced in 1961 for killing an Algerian police official.

Alexandre Dumas, in the Count of Monte Cristo, had Edmond Dantes escape from an island prison by sewing himself into a sack to replace the body of a priest to be buried at sea.

Tenne became the first to escape from the Saint Martin prison by climbing into a trunk. It was supposed to be filled with books belonging to Lazlo Varga who recently was pardoned by de Gaulle for taking part in an assassination plot against him in 1962. A guard carried the trunk to the ferryboat from the island.

TWO KILLED

Most of the people arrested so far in the manhunt have been traffic law violators and drunks found as police armed with sub-machineguns manned road-blocks throughout the country.

Two persons have been killed, both accidentally. One was a policeman killed by a driver who apparently did not see him. The other was a youth killed when a car smashed into a truck at a roadblock.

Esquimalt Faces Police-Fire Vote

Council Unanimous On Ballot, Support

By NANCY BROWN

Esquimalt's sizzling police-fire department hassle will be finally solved by the ratepayers themselves early in the New Year.

At the end of a stormy meeting Monday, Esquimalt council voted unanimously to hold a referendum early next year to see if taxpayers are willing to pay the price for a separate fire department.

The decision came at the first council meeting since much of the long-secret Macdonell report on the integrated 27-man department was published by the Colonist a week ago today.

One estimate is a separate fire staff would boost taxes by nine mills, or $50 on a $15,000 home.

During the debate, Coun. Wil-

Elphick

United Appeal

Total Jumps To $477,965

The United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal fund has jumped to $477,965, up about $50,000 since Friday's total.

Collections now stand at 79.6 per cent of the $600,000 goal. Residential collections have reached $94,945, or 89.5 per cent of the target of $106,200. This includes Sidney, North Saanich and Central Saanich.

Helping to swell the fund is $19,500 from the B.C. government Employees Community Services Fund, up from $11,353 last year. Eaton's employees and the company gave $14,050 this year, up from $12,700 last year.

The first division to go over the top, the federal services, was honored Monday when Commodore R. V. Henning and District Marine Agent Larry Slaght were presented with an illuminated scroll. Frank Donegan was also given a scroll when his division, individual advance gifts, went over the top.

Tax Sale Land Bought by City

For the first time since 1935, the city on Monday bought up all the properties put on the block at a land tax sale.

This year there were 11 and they brought $6,670. In 1935, there were 479 and they brought $192,000.

Owners of the land sold by and to the city will have one year to redeem the properties. They must pay the amount of taxes and other charges against the properties, plus interest at 6 per cent.

***

The lack of interest in land sales for taxes was indicated by the fact there were never more than five spectators and buyers, and no property was sold above the "knockdown price" (amount of taxes and other charges owing on the land).

Three of the sales were for pieces of vacant land, none of which brought more than $200.

Four Medals For Victorians

Four more Victorians have been awarded silver centennial medals for service to Canada.

Medals were received by Norman Forbes, principal of Oaklands elementary school; George Burrell, district manager of the Veterans' Land Administration; Margaret Thompson, teacher at the Christian Elementary private school, and Mrs. Patricia Hewitt, teacher at Belmont Park's John Subbs school.

Mrs. Hewitt introduced the pieces of vacant land, none of which brought more than $200.

THE DAILY BRITISH COLONIST

November 7, 1867

Sergt. Norris, of the Volunteers on Saturday last, made the highest score yet heard of in the Colony via: 67 points in 20 rounds, third class target. At 200 yards he scored 20 points — all bullseyes. The long Enfield was used.

Two arrests have been made of persons supposed to have been implicated in the escape of Maurice Carey and Thomas Abson, an ex-policeman, has absconded for fear of being taken upon the same charge.

Major Tilton, chief engineer of the Northern Pacific Railway, has gone east to lay his report as to the best ways through the Cascades for the road before the directors of the company.

Saanich Calls Special Meeting

McRae Pact Alive

By DON GAIN

Last-minute developments Monday opened up new but unnamed possibilities for agreement in the purchase by Saanich of the McRae Estate.

"This happened only this afternoon," Reeve Hugh Curtis said Monday night at the end of a four-hour council meeting.

He told council he would like to hold a special open council meeting the latter part of this week or the first of next week "to lay before you whatever I have at that time."

UNTIL LATER

"It merits a delay," he said. Council moved to table the matter until the special meeting.

Before this disclosure a letter from Robert Price, lawyer for the McRae family, said a proposal submitted by letter on Oct. 20 by the reeve was "not acceptable" because it was substantially the same as one made Oct. 4, which was rejected.

NO PURPOSE

Mr. Price wrote that it was felt "that no useful purpose would be served in pursuing further attempts to bargain at a price less than that determined by the arbitration board."

The board assessed the value of the property at $1,200,000. The municipality offered $900,000.

Mr. Price wrote that the family hoped the whole "or a substantial part of the property... might continue in perpetuity as a recreational site."

"For this reason I have suggested two alternatives either of which would permit the municipality to purchase the property. They are (1) that the municipality purchase three-quarters of the land for $900,000 or (2) that the municipality purchase the whole of the land and pay the balance of $300,000 in time payments."

Mr. Price asked for a reply by Thursday.

But discussions with the family Monday afternoon led to the new developments and the plan to call a special meeting within a week.

Racial Bias Charged In Saanich Rezoning

Racial prejudice was hinted Monday night as Saanich council's reason for a Sept. 12 veto of a rezoning bid by Henry Eng to build a golf course and driving range on Blenkinsop.

A number of letters supporting a re-submission of Mr. Eng's application to have some 22 acres at 4080 Blenkinsop rezoned from farm and residential to residential and commercial recreation status were read to council.

The area is between Blenkinsop and Cumberland in the peat bog section of the Blenkinsop valley.

Some of the letters said council was prejudiced in its consideration of Mr. Eng's application.

"This is a scurrilous attack on council," said Coun. Digby Kier angrily.

Reeve Hugh Curtis said it was highly unfortunate that prejudice should be introduced into this question.

He said the ground rules have always been laid use.

"The inferences drawn are most unfortunate," he added.

The proposed nine-hole golf course and the driving range development will have parking facilities for 60 cars. It will also include a small two-storey building for offices and a coffee shop.

Council contends the area is prime agricultural land and should be retained as such, and decided to table the application until its next meeting.

On School Board

Four Seeking Saanich Seat

Saanich got its fourth candidate for the Greater Victoria school board Monday with the entry of William Hibbert, 1825 San Pedro.

Interest in the Dec. 9 school board election is swinging toward Saanich, where four outsiders are seeking the seat to be left vacant at year's end by long-time trustee Frances Thompson.

Mr. Hibbert, 35, married and

Reeve

Brown

the father of three, works in the printing department of Bapco Paint Supply Ltd. He has lived in Greater Victoria nearly all his life.

"WORK WITH TEAM"

"The school board seems to be pushing toward better education," said Mr. Hibbert. "I'd like to work with the team."

Other candidates for Saanich representation on the board are former trustee Richard Reeve, 4105 Torquay; Mrs. R. B. Restall, 3208 Bellevue, prominent in parent-teacher work; and Oak Bay purchasing agent Douglas Brown, 3895 Scotton Road.

In Victoria, incumbents John Porteous and Dr. Victor Rogers are running again, along with retired electronics technician Joseph Haegert, 1516 Pembroke.

In Oak Bay, board chairman Peter Dunn has no declared opponent yet.

There is no trustee election in Esquimalt this year.

Scott Runs Hippily

Victoria's lighthouse philosopher, W. A. Scott, said Monday he plans to run for city alderman in December to represent the "inarticulate youth" of Victoria, including "the most misunderstood of all, the hippies." After all, he said, he is "the epitome in Victoria of a nonconformist."

No Rush Likely On Ferries

Weekend sailing schedule of B.C. ferries will not be stepped up because of the Remembrance Day holiday, general manager Monte Aldous said Monday.

Island-mainland ferries run hourly from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. each Friday, Saturday and Sunday in winter, with two-hour service from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. on other days.

Long lineups last Remembrance Day holiday weekend forced extra ferries. Mr. Aldous said some extra traffic is likely this year, "but it is usually greater when a holiday falls on Friday or Monday."

He said weekenders will likely not travel so far this year due to the Saturday holiday.

School Referendum Briefing

Building Cost Sky-High

The soaring cost of construction was detailed for Saanich school district ratepayers Monday at a meeting which aired the need for a $554,800 supplementary referendum.

***

The gathering in Royal Oak elementary school drew only about 40 people to hear buildings and grounds superintendent Bryan Shaw explain the Dec. 9 referendum.

Reason for the referendum, said board chairman Mrs. Nora Lindsay, is that funds of $1,855,400 voted in 1965 have become inadequate to pay for land and buildings included in the program.

Saanich school district extends north up the peninsula from Royal Oak. It now has 4,173 pupils, said Mr. Shaw, but will probably have 8,600 by 1981.

Mr. Shaw presented statistics showing that the average cost of vacant residential land in Saanich municipality increased by 10 to 12 per cent between 1961 and 1964.

But in 1965 it jumped 13.7 per cent and last year rose another 15.9 per cent, he said.

Price of wood products has risen so much now it is cheaper to build with masonry, said Mr. Shaw. At the moment it costs more to build in Victoria than in Vancouver.

Another information meeting is planned for north peninsula ratepayers before the Dec. 9 vote.

The whole $554,800 referendum is 50 per cent shareable by the department of education.

Complete Confidence

Coun. Bell said the report dealt also with the necessity of splitting the departments.

A vote of confidence in the police commission was carried unanimously — and the reeve asked the press to take special note of the unanimity of the councillors.

Coun. Roy Elphick referred to the publication by the Colonist of the long-secret report as a "dastardly thing."

"This was a confidential report, and anyone who has ever been in the services should know the meaning of confidential," said Coun. Elphick.

"These men poured their hearts out to Supl. Macdonell, knowing it would be kept confidential. Now certain people want to drag the words and thoughts of these men into the political arena."

"It is a real shame that this has ever happened in this municipality. It is a planned political trick and the people who purported it must feel very bad because they must hate Esquimalt an awful lot to do such a thing."

"I can just imagine how the whole police department must feel when certain names are bandied around and they don't know whether it is them or someone else."

"I think it is entirely out of order for Mr. Bell to ask for a copy of this report."

Coun. Arthur Mebs, a candidate reeve in December, said he thought it a terrible thing that secret information had leaked out, when councillors were unaware of the contents of the report.

"I was most disturbed that the Colonist decided to print this without permission," said Coun. Gerald Horne, chairman of the fire committee.

Confidential Nature

"We have been criticized throughout the year for having closed meetings. We have had to deal with matters of a confidential nature, and there have been suggestions that the press be admitted for background information."

"This has shaken my confidence in the press. Whoever was responsible for printing this was certainly remiss. It was irresponsible on their part."

Coun. Horne said Esquimalt has always had a good police department, and he failed to see how anyone could possibly want a copy of a report which dealt largely in personalities "unless it was to glean personal information which may be used to smear individuals in the police department."

Coun. Mebs, proposing the referendum, asked that it be held at the time of the December elections so the air could be cleared.

It was decided to leave it for the incoming council so there would be time to get information to the public.

"Coun. Elphick and I are on the fire committee, and if people don't like what we have been doing we won't be here next year," he added.

Coun. Mebs questioned the confidentiality of information "if we have a new committee next year."

"Thank you, Coun. Mebs," laughed Coun. Horne.

He said that, from information he gathered during a 2½ month study of the police-fire department earlier this year, a separate fire department would cost about nine mills.

"This referendum is long overdue," said Coun. Bell.

Thinking of Future

"Fire protection will be expensive from a dollars and cents point of view, but the people of Esquimalt know things won't cost less in the years ahead."

"It is up to council to provide fire protection, and I know at dockyard we have a first-class fire department available to us to call on — if their own house is clean first."

"I believe that if we go to the people with a referendum and they defeat it, then if a life is lost in a fire it is on their heads as much as on ours."

Coun. Bell suggested the fire committee, in bringing in a report on the cost of a fire department, should show the cost of getting all new buildings and equipment as well as the additional men.

Coun. Horne retorted that, if he was going to bring in a cost report, it had to be accepted "100 per cent" by council.

"I am not going to be criticized by my own council for the work I have done," he said.

"These figures certainly won't be cooked up. Although we have taken abuse occasionally there is certainly not going to be any attempt to present a favorable or unfavorable picture. It is absolutely necessary that council endorse the figures we come up with, and people can decide if it is worth it on that basis."

Coun. Horne said that, despite expensive renovations to the public works shed to provide additional accommodation for the firemen and equipment, it would be impossible to put in an entire department.

'That Chicken Coop'

All reports on separation of the departments had advised putting up new buildings in a new location, and the unions would not allow the use of the present accommodation.

He turned on Coun. Mebs, who endeavored to support new accommodation.

"We can't think of having a fire department in that chicken coop we have already put a considerable amount of money into," said Coun. Mebs.

Coun. Horne objected to the "chicken coop" connotation.

"Mr. Mebs should retract that word. I don't want to read it on the front page of the Colonist in the morning," he stormed.

"We have put a lot of money into it, and Coun. Mebs obviously needs to take a tour there."

Coun. Mebs said he hoped a referendum would clear the air.

say what they want, it will resolve the issue once and for all."

Coun. Horne said the present force is ready to split "at a moment's notice." It becomes necessary, as it would if the dockyard fire department were to close.

"I wonder what our position would be if this were turned down at a referendum, and we lost our back-up and had to separate?"

Coun. Elphick pleaded for time for the atmosphere to cool down before people are asked to make a decision on separation.

"There is a great deal of emotionalism at the time of an election," he said. "This should be a separate issue."

"I like to see this at election time," retorted the reeve, "and I'm sure people are capable of making a wise decision at any time."

"If it is an emotional issue at election time, it will be an emotional issue whenever it comes up."

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Last night I overheard our 21-year-old son tell someone on the phone that he has been sniffing glue and getting a big kick out of it.

My husband and I are deeply concerned. Is this practice dangerous? How can we tell if he is actually sniffing glue or if he just said he was doing it to show off?

If it is the truth and the boy admits it what should we do? Please give us some advice. Ann. My husband and I are working people and we don't know about such things.—OK, LAHOMA

Dear Oklahoma: A person who has been sniffing glue will behave as if he is intoxicated because he is. He may be unusually loud, or "high" for a time. His speech may be slurred. After a while he may become drowsy or nauseated or even unconscious.

Juvenile authorities say glue sniffing is dangerous because it can lead to anti-social behaviour. My medical consultants tell me it is dangerous because continued glue sniffing may result in damage to the nervous system and often to the liver.

Parents should be concerned with the underlying factors which would drive an adolescent to sniff glue. Professional help should be sought because a person who continues this practice is obviously trying to escape reality.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a dental assistant who appreciated your telling off that big-mouth mother who insisted on going in with her child while the dentist worked.

I have had years of experience with such mothers. They are the ones who scare kids to death, not the dentist.

We experimented a few times and allowed persistent mothers to come in with their crying children. Not once did it work out well, so we quit that nonsense. These mothers always ask, "Did it hurt?" The child then expects pain and cries from fright. When the dentist instructs the child to do something the mother invariably repeats it. The child often refuses to follow the instructions because Mother asked him to. If the dentist had asked there would have been no problem.

So please, Ann, keep dishing out your good advice and tell those pushy mothers to leave their kids with the professionals. Everyone will be better off.—LADY IN WHITE

Dear Lady: I plan to. Your letter was one of a handful supporting my stand. I received dozens of letters from mothers who called me "mean, heartless, cruel, vicious, sadistic and nutty" among other things. Thanks for writing.

Francois Lace Jacket Enhances Satin Gown

Following their wedding in Garden City United Church Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Brian Patterson left on a honeymoon to Portland.

The bride, the former Bonnie Kathleen Cook, wore a floor-length white satin gown styled on empire lines and featuring a Francois lace overjacket of scalloped lace with belled sleeves. A cathedral train of the same lace swept back from the shoulders. Her scalloped illusion veil misted from a headpiece of two white roses. She carried a cascade bouquet of red and white roses.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cook, 5900 West Saanich Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Patterson, 1503 Charlton Road.

Pink and blue chrysanthemums decorated the church for the ceremony at which Rev. H.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wardle are holding an "at home" this afternoon to mark their 50th wedding anniversary.—(Kinsman)

R. Whitmore officiated. Mr. Cook gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's attendants chose identical street-length pink sheath gowns featuring an A-line overdress with bell sleeves. Their headpieces were of net, held by a rose. They carried cascade bouquets of pink and blue chrysanthemums.

Maid of honor was Miss Norma Dean and the senior bridesmaids were Miss Julie Cook, the bride's sister, and Miss Wendy Patterson, sister of the groom. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Mickey Cook, the bride's sister, and Miss Colleen Patterson, another sister of the groom.

Debi Cook was flower girl for her aunt. She wore a street-length blue taffeta dress, styled on A-lines with bell sleeves and featuring blue overlace.

Larry Patterson, the groom's brother, was best man and guests were ushered by George Tautz and Richard Howes.

At the reception following in St. Christopher's Hall the head table was centered by a three-tier wedding cake, topped with a bride and groom and surrounded with pink and blue tulle flowers. Silver candelabra completed the table decor. Harry Mathews proposed the toast to the bride's happiness.

For travelling the new Mrs. Patterson donned a red three-piece Italian knit suit with black accessories.

Valerie Shaw Bride Of Mr. Keith Nixon

At a double-ring ceremony performed by The Very Rev. Dean Brian Whitlow, Miss Valerie Shaw was united in marriage with Mr. Keith Nixon on Saturday evening in Christ Church Cathedral.

Mr. Richard Proudman, organist, played O Love Divine and O Perfect Love prior to the wedding march when the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Shaw, 1720 Taylor Street, walked to the altar with her father.

The bride's gown on Empire lines was of peau d'elephant and was styled with long bell sleeves and the skirt sweeping into a cathedral train. Lace trimmed the hemline of the bridal gown which was made by the bride's mother. A floral head piece held her three tiered veil and she carried a bouquet of pink roses, stephanotis and fern.

Mrs. Howard Hilton was matron of honor, Mrs. George Surgeoner, bridesmatron and Miss Georgina Birnie, bridesmaid.

They wore gowns of rose pink peau d'elephant styled on Empire lines and had pink rosebuds in their hair. Pink and white carnations were in their bouquets.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Nixon, 1296 Hastings Street, had Mr. Howard Hilton as best man. Mr. Bish Mattu and Mr. Alan Shaw ushered guests to the pews.

The reception was held at the Tally Ho Travelodge where the bride's table was centred with a three-tiered cake topped with two love birds. Mr. Theodore Tarn proposed the bridal toast to his granddaughter.

Leaving for a honeymoon in Hawaii the bride's going away ensemble was a dress and coat of cerise wool trimmed with black fur, black accessories and white orchid corsage.

Granny Not Happy

TORONTO (CP) — When you cram a portly grandmother into a Twiggy-style minidress you end up with an unhappy consumer, says a recent survey on women's clothing.

Recognizing the problem that exists in dressing women over 45 and perhaps overweight, the Consumers' Association of Canada Ontario branch, and the Canadian Red Cross Society conducted a survey to fathom the complaints of clothing senior citizens.

Results indicate older women are willing to spend money on clothes if they can get the appropriate style, color and fit.

A woman from a senior citizen's home asked how she could look graceful and charming in today's dresses when the hemline rose to her navel when she sat down.

The most consistent complaint centred on the clothing industry catering to the younger set with a lack of advertising of clothes for older women.

Buttons, bows, frills, mini-skirts, back zippers, pockets that catch on door knobs, and muddy colors are out with the older set who want no part of them and one shopper almost begged for half sizes.

"I would like just once, to be able to be served by a clerk who was interested in finding something to suit me. I feel as though I'm a trespasser when I ask for a half size," she said.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Victorians who have called at British Columbia House in San Francisco include Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Haddock, Mr. and Mrs. Vic W. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Hitchcock, Mrs. R. W. Kersey and Mr. Donald S. M. Blair. Also holidaying in the south are Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Thomas Sr. of Sidney and Mr. J. D. Fitzgerald, Campbell River.

December Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Alex J. James, 3915 Tudor Avenue, take pleasure in announcing the engagement of their niece, Nicola James, daughter of Mrs. S. B. Moore of Cookham Dene, England, and the late FO O. B. James, MM, DFM, to John Norman Friesen of Abbotsford, B.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Friesen of Abbotsford, B.C. The wedding will take place at the Church of St. George the Martyr, Cadboro Bay on December 23.

MONTEAL (CP) — Loyola College students recently invited people to "drive, don't walk" to their annual carwash fund-raising for the Montreal Association for the Blind. Nobody walked but some ran when they heard about the playboy bunnies who were on hand to help out.

A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merrill advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint to gain a peach-and-cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion - beautifully cold water, smooth on tropical oil of Olay. This oil is rather scarce and expensive, but your drug store should be able to get you a supply.

Fashion Forecast

Rumor has it that the navy's Wrens may get shorter skirts with their new integration-green uniforms to bring hemlines more into line with what is being worn by civilians these days. "Shorter than what?" asked photographer William E. John as he snapped this picture of two Esquimalt-based navy girls.

Reality Sails To Victory

Jack Smith's eight-metre Reality, sailed by a three-man team, led a Royal Victoria Yacht Club fleet across the finish line Sunday in the first race of the Sidney winter series. Order of results on corrected time were: Jack Smith's Reality; Walter Stenner's Encore; Fred Gardiner's Shih Yen; Dave Anstey's Hussey; Peter Coombs' Doxy II; A. B. Sanderson's Filey Brig; Peter Young's Hammerhead; Gordon MacKay's Whistler; John Mal-leson's Swallow; and Don Lawson's Tepah. RCNSA races in Esquimalt Harbor Sunday were held in under less than 10 miles an hour.

Robber Sought Work Before Bank Holdup

Carl Raymond, 22, came to Victoria in September with his 18-year-old wife looking for work. He found little. Their funds were low. So he held up the Bank of Montreal, 1771 Fort, Oct. 13.

Raymond's story was aired in central magistrate's court Monday when he pleaded guilty to the armed robbery of the bank. Originally, he had elected trial by judge.

Detective Richard Ward said Raymond was asked if he wished to give a statement after his arrest in the crawl space of an apartment building at 2211 Ida, three hours after the robbery.

BACK A YEAR

Raymond gave a statement, tracing back a year to when he and his wife got into debt in London, Ont. They headed west and stopped in Vancouver, but could not find work. They came to Victoria Sept. 9, but could find little work.

"On Oct. 10 the accused and his wife went to Robinson's Sporting Goods, where he purchased a shotgun and half a box of shells," Det. Ward said.

"He took the shotgun home and saved off the barrel and the stock," Raymond also opened the shells and emptied them of powder. The next day he bought a toque from a ski shop and then went to a second-hand store where he bought a trench coat, pants, shoes, socks and sweater to wear at the bank.

LEFT SUITE

"Shortly after 10 a.m. on the 13th he left the suite (at 2211 Ida) carrying the gun inside a pocket," Det. Ward said. "He walked approximately four blocks to the bank.

"Once inside, he pulled the toque over his face and walked over to a counter. He threw down a paper bag and told a girl to fill it up."

He was told she had no money

Bloodhound Best

Judges chose a bloodhound, Gen, owned by Mrs. Patricia Kerr of Victoria, best of 74 dogs at a sanction match conducted Sunday by the Shoreline Kennel Club in Sidney.

Judged best puppy in show was a German shepherd, B Have, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Don Falardeau of Langford.

Placing in groups: Sporting Dogs: An American Cocker Spaniel, Polyanna, owned by E. H. Vandermeulen of Alberni; an Irish Setter, Chrysene, owned by Mrs. D. N. McDougall of Victoria; an English Cocker Spaniel, Poppy, owned by Mrs. L. Ferguson of Victoria; and a Golden Retriever, Terra, owned by Brenda Murphy of Victoria.

Hounds: The Bloodhound and best in show winner, an Irish Wolfhound, Simon, owned by Mrs. Patricia Kerr of Victoria; a Beagle, May, owned by Frank Bronee of Cowichan Lake; and an Afghan, Andra, owned by Stuart Morris of Ladysmith, B.C.

Working Dogs: The German Shepherd, B Have, picked best puppy in show; a Welsh Corgi, Fliss, owned by Mrs. Gailie Jackson of Sidney; a American Husky, Punky Girl, owned by Mrs. Donald Wilson of Victoria; and a Samoyed, Miley Moon, owned by Mrs. H. D. Hanson of Alberni. Terriers: A Shetland Sheepdog, Tullie, owned by Mrs. H. D. Hanson of Alberni; a Cairn Terrier, Sister Rosam, owned by Mrs. Margaret Presencible of Langford.

and Raymond moved down the counter and told a male teller to fill the bag. Again he was told there was no money but this time Raymond said: "Hurry up and no one will get hurt."

ACROSS FORT

The teller put money into the bag, including 50 $5 bills whose numbers had been recorded. Raymond then left the bank, ran across Fort and disappeared near 2211 Ida.

Det. Ward said he and Constable Robert Vining of the Esquimalt force fruitlessly searched 2211 Ida and its 10 suites. They then waited for the accused to return to his suite.

While they were waiting, Albert Thody, the building's caretaker, checked the crawl space and found a man hiding there on the dirt floor. More police officers were called to the scene and Det. Jack Perry called: "Carl Raymond. The area is surrounded by police officers. Come out."

'COMING OUT'

Det. Ward said there was no reply and a discussion then followed among the policemen whether to call in a police dog.

Det. Angus Stewart also called to the man and the reply was: "Okay, okay. I'm coming out."

Det. Ward told the court that a trench coat, pants, shotgun, brown toque and a paper bag containing money were thrown out, and Raymond emerged. The money totalled to $1,655.

Raymond told police he went to the crawl space when he got home from the bank, and his wife passed in a change of clothing.

Raymond also said he had no intention of using live shells in the gun.

His wife was originally charged with armed robbery, but a stay of proceedings was entered against her. She was since returned to Ontario.

Defence counsel George Jones asked for a pre-sentence report and Raymond was remanded to Nov. 14 for consideration of the report and for sentence.

Lines Around the Mouth

The mouth area comes in for so much attention, the quicker the lines are smoothed out and made to disappear, the younger you will look. A lotion-like substance 2nd Debut applied nightly will make the lines fill in and the skin become smooth once more. You will probably use 2nd Debut on your entire face to banish dryness, but do use a little extra care around your mouth. After applying the 2nd Debut massage very lightly, until it disappears into your skin. Your drug or dept. store has 2nd Debut with CEF 600 or CEF 1200 in double strength and you'll find it a genuine delight to use.

City Policemen Top Class

Two Victoria police officers led the class in the recent interservice course at the Vancouver Police Academy. Competing against policemen from all over British Columbia, Constable A. V. Archibald ranked first with a mark of 85 per cent, and Constable E. M. Hemstad was second. Class average was 70.7 per cent.

Mayor Hugh Stephen, chairman of the police commission, expressed pride and satisfaction in the results and added it was further evidence of progress being made by the city police department.

Bad Cheque Trail Came to Finish With Jail Term

A 41-year-old North Surrey man who "papered the southern half of the province with bad cheques" was sentenced in central magistrate's court Monday to six months in jail on 41 counts of false pretences.

Andrew Toderian told Magistrate William Ostler before sentencing: "There may be a few more cheques. I gave my confession to the detectives and I think there may be a few more to come in."

Toderian also told the court that he had told detectives about his selling his car on which he owed money. He said he was trying to play the horses to make money.

Magistrate Ostler said: "You are a very hopeful man if you thought you could find a horse to get you out of this mess... you literally papered the southern half of the province with bad cheques."

Toderian pleaded guilty to the charges, which arose in Victoria and the Vancouver area and involved his receiving cash for worthless cheques.

A high-speed chase on Menzies Sunday night ended in fines totalling $525 and a night at the Saanich traffic safety program for Gary Milley, 26, of 939 Johnson.

Magistrate Ostler suspended Milley's licence for six months and also placed him on a $100 bond for three months, with the condition he attend Wednesday's safety program at the Saanich Courthouse where films on traffic accidents are shown.

Bail was set at $1,000 for Thomas James Penston, 18, of 650 Empress, charged with having marijuana in his possession Saturday. He was remanded to Nov. 14 for plea.

Yvan Demontigny, 26, of Sherbrooke, was sentenced to 30 months in jail when he pleaded guilty to three counts of false pretences. The sentence will be concurrent with a one-year term Demontigny is already serving. He admitted writing three worthless cheques in Vancouver in September and receiving cash and goods totalling $41.53.

Rodrique Joseph La Voie, 1030 Fairfield, was remanded to Friday for sentence when he pleaded guilty to two counts of false pretences. He will also be sentenced then on one other charge of false pretences.

Court was told La Voie got goods worth $20.10 from Eaton's Sept. 23 and attempted to cash a cheque at The Bay Nov. 2.

Melvyn Gibb, 19, of 7949 East Saanich, was fined $135 when he pleaded guilty to six traffic violations.

He was fined $40 for careless driving, $40 for following too close, $15 for being a minor without insurance, a total of $20 for not notifying his change of address for his licence and registration, and $20 for making a false statement on his accident report.

Fined for careless driving: David Bennett, 1596 Klaser, $50, licence suspended; William Brady, 548 Dallas, $40; Kenneth Erskine, 624 Esquimalt, $35; Lawrence McDonald, 1421 Harrison, $40.

...and TRITLE'S

The women of your grandmother's day knew how to keep their hands soft, delicate, charmingly fragrant. Theirs were beautiful, beautiful hands because they had a secret in common - they knew that the precise combination of rosewater and glycerine restored delicacy, softness, femininity to their hands even after harshest exposure than yours will ever know. Tritle's have their secret. And Tritle's have successfully compounded an easy-to-use, delightfully fragrant cream and lotion based on that time-tested original glycerine and rosewater combination.

Tritle's original Glycerine and Rosewater - pure white fluffy cream and free-flowing lotion - penetrates the skin quickly without messiness or stickiness. Even "detached burn" responds to Tritle's. Whatever the condition of your hands now - rough, red, chapped, dry - no matter how busy they have to be, you should try Tritle's. Tritle's soothes and smooths hands to new loveliness, so delightful to see, even more delightful to touch. Insist on Tritle's, the white lotion and cream.

Picky family eaters won't pass over those all-important vegetables if you add a subtly seasoned butter sauce. Makes them taste like a million!

Green beans or broccoli sparkle with flavor when topped with Polonaise Butter. Simply sauté ½ cup toasted coarse bread crumbs in ½ cup butter until golden. Add 1½ tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon snipped parsley and toss lightly. Pour over hot drained vegetables; sprinkle with finely chopped hard cooked egg.

To give potatoes a new twist try this lemon-butter combination. Arrange thinly sliced raw potatoes (about 4 medium-sized) in two layers in a broad shallow baking dish. Drizzle with a mixture of ½ cup melted butter and 5 teaspoons lemon juice. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake at 400°F 10 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350°F; continue cooking 35 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Delicious served with fish!

For your next oven-baked dinner choose a pork roast accompanied by this tantalizing stuffed squash dish.

BAKED SQUASH AND ONIONS
2 medium acorn squash
2 tablespoons water
12 small cooked onions
½ cup toasted slivered almonds
½ cup butter, melted
½ cup maple syrup
¼ teaspoon salt
Halve squash, remove seeds and place face down in a shallow baking dish. Add water and bake at 350°F 30 minutes (till almost tender). Turn squash; fill with onions; sprinkle with almonds. Combine butter, maple syrup and salt; spoon over top. Bake 35 minutes longer, basting occasionally. (Serves 4.)

SINCE WHEN

...were inner fashions fun to wear? Since WonderBra created bras and girdles with a difference... designed to make the most of your figure, naturally... with the kind of control that depends on design, not weight. See how WonderBra makes the difference, at

WonderBra

"Fleur de Lis," the long-line that lets you grow younger. Trims off middle inches with elastic diaphragm panel. Terylene lace cups, 2" elastic waistband. White 34-38 B, 34-40 C, $8. 34-40 D, $9. Black, 34-38 B, C, $8.

"Wonder - Control Plus" full hip Lyca long leg, the girdle designed to follow your own muscle structure. Double sides smooth out all bulges. Stretch lace, cuffs. Med., large for average and tall full hip figures. $17. XL, XXL, $18.

Dream-Lift "Wow" bra gives you something you didn't think you had. The difference is in gentle lift of fibre-filled lace cups wired for perfect support. Wide set straps, low back for decolette fashions. White, black, skintone 32-36 A, B, 7.50.

"Wonder Bra" long leg pantie, a clever combination of light but powerful Lyca and tricky penelling smooths and molds thighs, hips, waist, tummy, without a seam or garter showing, even under clingy clothes. Skintone, 5.M.L., $12; XL, $13.

"Petal Bust" stretch strap bra makes the most of your figure, naturally, with Terylene lace cups supported with flat wire for comfort and uplift. Stretch straps start centre front, extend to low back. White, black, 32-38 B, 32-38 C, 8.50.

"Oblique" long leg pantie girdle in extra-powerful Lyca bias-cut and specially panelled to slim and firm you without that strapped-in feeling. Satin lastex front and back, unique side panels do wonders for your hips. M.L., $16. XL, $17.

"Dream-Lift" half cup bandeau, the bra that says you're a woman with ALL your fashions. Now in blue, black, skintone, white, pink. Lightly padded Terylene lace cups, off-the-shoulder straps, low back. 32-38 A, B, C (blue and pink in A, B only) $6.

New "Wonder - Control" long leg pantie girdle supplements your own muscle structure while controlling your figure naturally, with unique new Lyca paneling. Trims and firms all over with new comfort. M.L. 13.50; XL, 14.50.

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESNUT

While I prefer to leave the pruning of my H.T. and floribunda roses until March, I think there is some advantage in doing the rambler and climbing roses in the fall or early winter.

This, for my money, is one of the most unpleasant jobs in gardening, for these roses are thorny brutes and the long canes are not easy to manage, and I usually wind up all tattered and torn and looking as if I had been doing battle with a horde of wildcats.

It isn't easy to explain the pruning process without diagrams and pictures, but I'll have a go at it. First thing to remember is that rambler and climber roses are two entirely different critters, with different habits of growth and calling for different techniques in pruning. Let's take the rambler first.

There are two classes of rambler roses: (a) those which sprout new long canes from the base of the plant at or near ground level, and (b) those which give few, if any, of these low shoots but branch from higher up on the stem.

Examples of the first class are Dorothy Perkins, Crimson Rambler, Excelsa, Minnehaha, Lady Godiva, Crimson Shower, Francos Juranville, Sander's White and Mary Wallace. Varieties in the second class include Albertine, Alberic Barbier, Dr. Van Fleet, Chaplin's Pink, New Dawn, Crimson Conquest, Emily Gray and American Pillar.

The first of these two classes is easy to explain: You simply cut away all the canes which have borne flowers, taking them out at their point of origin.

Then the new replacement canes which grew out this summer are tied in their place. In other words, you treat these rambler roses exactly as you would raspberries.

The second class of rambler is a bit more difficult. Here, the new shoots which will bear flowers next year are not from the bottom of the plant but from points higher up along the old stem.

Follow each old stem up from ground level until you come to a good strong new branching shoot, then cut away the old stem just above this point and remove it. Tie in the new young shoot, then proceed to deal with each of the old stems in the same way.

Weak shoots springing from the old stem lower down than the selected replacement shoot should be shortened to two eyes.

Climbers, too, fall into two classes. First we have the vigorous growers suitable for walls and trellises, mostly the climbing sports of H.T. roses such as Cig. Crimson Glory, Cig. Shot Silk, Cig. Mme. Caroline Testout, Cig. Lady Sylvia, Cig. Mme. Butterfly, Cig. Golden Dawn and Cig. Mrs. Sam McGredy.

These should not have any of the new growth pruned away unless it is damaged.

It is only when extension growths are growing beyond their allotted space that cutting back to keep them within bounds is permissible.

The old flower clusters should be removed, of course, cutting back the stem to within about four inches of the parent wood.

On long-established, multi-caned climbers, it is a good idea to take out one of the oldest canes in its entirety every year to make room for young replacement growth.

Then we have the less vigorous climbers and pillar roses such as Aloha, Cockatoo, Meg. Danne du Feu, Paul's Scarlet, Cig. Goldilocks, Cig. Golden Showers, Lemon Pillar and the Kordeas climbers Zweibrücken, Dortmund, Köln am Rhein and Leverkusen.

Very little pruning is required on these, merely cutting away any dead wood and thin, weedy shoots, together with any trimming required to maintain a pleasing size and shape.

ART BUCHWALD - and The Other War

U.S. Opens Second Front

WASHINGTON — The operations room of the 24th U.S. Army Recruiting Corps was tense with excitement. Gen. Rubicon, the commanding officer, came in with his staff, and stared at the map on the wall.

"Any news from the front, Colonel?"

"Yes, sir. We've heard from the Dartmouth patrol. They managed to get on campus unseen and got their card table set up in the administration building. They report they signed up four students for officer candidate school before they were discovered and had to retreat."

***

"Good show. Any word from Princeton?"

"No, Sir, not for two days. The last report we had was that Capt. Reilly and his men were surrounded by students who wouldn't let their car move. They're running short of water and food, and I don't know how much longer they'll be able to hold out."

"Call the air force and ask them if they'll make a drop."

"I did, Sir, but the weather's been bad and all planes are grounded."

***

"Dammit, Colonel, we've got to get relief to them somehow."

"I know, Sir. We were thinking of sending in a relief force, but we've used up all our reserves at Harvard."

"What's the situation at Harvard?"

"Lieut. Shivers?" a major cried. "That's my brother. How can you send a kid up to a place like that?"

"Easy does it, Major," Gen. Rubicon says grimly. "Lieut. Shivers knew what he was doing when he volunteered for the 24th U.S. Army Recruiting Corps."

"Sure, you can say that standing here in this nice comfortable office seven stories underneath the Pentagon. But what about the kids you send out day after day to Ohio State and the universities of Michigan, Wisconsin, and Berkeley? What are you running, a suicide mission?"

"Major, I will overlook your insubordination because I know how you feel about your brother. But I would just like to assure you that I'm not heartless. How do you think I feel every time I send a patrol out to Yale or Columbia or Oberlin?"

***

"Sure, I know they may never come back. But we've got a job to do, and I can't let emotion stand in the way of the army's recruiting plans. Somebody's got to do the dirty work. War is hell, son."

***

At this juncture, the colonel says, "Sir, we've just got word from Reilly at Princeton."

"What does he say?"

"His message reads: 'Send us more students.'"

The general smiles. "Isn't that typical of Reilly, Colonel. I want to recommend him for the Distinguished Recruiting Cross, and send out that quota to the press. We need a hero at a time like this."

***

"Sir, the 1st Provisional Recruiters Brigade has just gotten back from Stanford," a staff officer says.

"How many missing?"

"Five. Schwartz, Weatherill, Puchinski, Kelly and Ascerelli were last seen going into the student union to rescue a Dow Chemical Company recruiter and they never came out."

The general looks off into space and says, "Why do the good ones always go first?"

Romance, Work Mixed

MADRID (NANA) — Jill Ireland, whose ex is man from U.N.C.L.E., David McCallum—came to Spain to be with the man who will most likely be her next husband, Charles Bronson. When producer Ted Richmond saw pretty Jill, he promptly gave her a cameo role in Villa Rides, the big picture he is making with Robert Mitchum and Yul Brynner. Robert, by the way, is back at work chipping as can be after the run-in with a gun that took four stitches in his head. Robert, in the President of Mexico's balcony scene yesterday, suddenly pulled out a sign which read, "Legalize Pot." The Spanish extra who unwittingly caused Mitchum's accident, is still bedded down with heart failure.

Spanish director Luis Bunuel is back in Madrid although he has been banned from making movies in Spain since he quit this country years ago. After 10 years of being snubbed Bunuel's Los Olvidados—The Forgotten Ones—was given a gala premiere in Madrid. And what with winning the Venice film festival Belle de Jour award, there is now talk of courting the director to make another film in his native land.

There was Jane Morgan singing away in her very low bareback dress at London's Savoy Hotel, when a ringsider arose, sneaked up behind her and ran his finger down her back. Jane suppressed a shriek and gallantly continued singing. Bare backs are always a challenge.

Robert Shaw, glowing from his successful debut as a playwright on the West End stage with Man In a Glass Booth, has been here visiting resident Phil Yordan . . . and Clifton Daniel of the New York Times has been vacationing in Madrid with wife Margaret Truman.

Audrey Hepburn has just left after staying with the Yul Brynner at their elegant apartment, rented from a marquise (who else?). The last time I saw Audrey in Paris she was playing Natasha to Mel Ferrer's Prince Andre in War and Peace and madly in love with him. We lunched in the marvellous square with the three fountains and the buildings in that indescribably faded light brown stucco.

The stars of The Magus were given five days off from filming in Mallorca. Anthony Quinn went to his villa in Rome and Michael Caine to his penthouse in London. Hollywood was too far for Candice Bergen, so she took off for Tangiers, instead.

Ed Sullivan booked Shani Wallis for her first television appearance, after Oliver is released. "I'll also be doing an outdoor show all over London in the spring for BBC and America," Shani, who plays Nancy Sykes, told me between takes. Columbia has the blonde singer under option for five more films. "I'm also planning a special with Engelhardt in America — Tony Newley, Tommy Steele." When will Shani have time to live in the house she bought recently in Beverly Hills?

Affluence Polluted

SYDNEY HARRIS

At lunch, not long ago, with Elmo Roper, the highly-respected U.S. researcher and pollster, I was pleased to hear him sound off on what we both agreed was the most pressing problem of our time—the control of our physical environment.

"The American system, call it capitalism, or what you will," he said, "has pretty much licked the economic problem. I don't mean we still don't have ugly patches of poverty and unemployment—but we have the resources and the knowledge to bring everybody up to a decent level of living, which we're going to do soon."

***

"But in reaching the economic level we have," he went on, "the system has ignored its drastic effect on the physical environment. We've pushed ahead so far and so fast in raising the standard of living that we've shamefully neglected what this productive pace has done to the country."

"I mean in terms of air and water pollution, in decaying cities, in a countryside that's ravaged by unplanned suburban slums and cut up by ugly highways. And what's the good of material prosperity if the air we breathe and the water we use and the places we live in are smelly and contaminated and an offence to the eyes?"

"What can we do about it all?" I asked.

***

"The first thing we can do," he said, "is stop patting ourselves on the back about our past successes in raising the highest level of all time—and start asking what sort of living conditions we've actually provided for ourselves and our children."

"If our lakes are going to die of pollution, if our air in urban areas is the equivalent of everyone smoking two packs of cigarettes a day, and if sites of beauty and leisure are sacrificed for drive-ins and gas stations and junk yards—then what can we do with all our money and prosperity but try to escape the very culture we have created?"

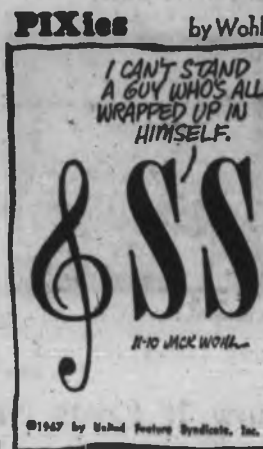

"Are we willing to spend enough to rectify these ills?"

"I don't know," he shrugged. "But we must recognize that every system has its negative side as well as its positive side—and the negative side our system is its flagrant disregard for human values in its relentless quest for greater economic productivity."

***

"But productivity must be for people—not an end in itself—and now we're faced with the problem of making the country as clean and beautiful and pleasant to live in as it is prosperous."

"Amen," I said.

Test of Strength

While deputy sat in for him in Ottawa Monday as Parliament marked its own centenary, Governor-General Michener continued tour of his native Alberta that ends Wednesday. He also found time for calisthenics, doing early-morning kicks in Red Deer railroad yard in near-freezing temperatures which kept everyone away but one hardy cameraman.

On Pearson and Taxes

SHARP 'TOO FRANK'

CALGARY (CP) — The Herald Monday quoted Finance Minister Sharp as saying Prime Minister Pearson "does not intend to take the Liberal party through the next election" unless one is called soon.

The newspaper said Sharp made the remark to a meeting of young Liberals Saturday and was unaware reporters were present. The reporters had been invited.

Sharp said there was no doubt Pearson intends to retire soon and it was "a question of when." (See also Page 11.)

He said later he thought the meeting was closed to the press and had been "far franker than I would have been" if he had known reporters were there. He had not intended to make public remarks about the prime minister's plans.

Sharp said he was speaking in terms of problems facing the Liberal party. One was that Mr. Pearson would probably not be the leader in the next election.

He added: "As far as I am concerned it is a problem, because I believe Mr. Pearson would be the best man to face Mr. Stanfield in the next election."

Sharp also told the meeting the government plans to proceed with its medical care insurance program, and added: "To the extent medicare comes in, I shall have to raise taxes."

Asked what effect the medical plan would have on Ottawa's budgetary problems, he said: "An adverse effect."

Tories Press for Probe

Judy Fights Snipers

By RON COLLISTER
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Progressive Conservative MPs may try again today to force the Judy LaMarsh-CBC row into a parliamentary committee for investigation.

Monday, Speaker Lucien

Lamoureux ruled out of order a Conservative bid to postpone second reading of the new broadcasting bill until it, and the troubles of the secretary of state, have been sent to the Commons broadcasting committee for study.

Tory rules expert G. W. Baldwin said his party wants to get CBC president Alphonse Ouimet and the state secretary "into the building to find out what they are talking about."

He stressed he meant examination of the charges of "rotten management" in the CBC, made by Miss LaMarsh last week.

The Tories show no sign of easing up in their assault on the accident-prone Miss LaMarsh, but the government is gambling it can ride out the storm.

In the Commons, Miss LaMarsh pleaded the traditional defence of newsmen about safeguarding their sources of information.

"It is very difficult to pass on any of this information without pointing to people in the corporation to whom reference is made or to the people who have been the sources of my information," she said.

"I feel that, if I were to disclose the names of any of the sources, no secretary of state hereafter would ever have any information about what was going on in the corporation."

"I do not, therefore, propose to name any of these individuals, now or at any time," she added.

Miss LaMarsh said she did not believe anything further could be gained from speculation about the individuals who are responsible, or who appear to be responsible (for rotten management).

"Unless I am specific, to say anything more about it would narrow it down to some individuals, but still touch those who might not be responsible."

Tory Tom Bell sniped at Miss LaMarsh: "Why did you start it, then?"

"Any suggestion I started anything shows only the ignorance of the man who said that," she snapped back. "The reports which this government, and earlier governments, have commissioned over the past few years have indicated exactly the same thing."

She said the new CBC appointments would not be announced until after the broadcasting bill is approved by Parliament.

Send Out Gunboats

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Canada should use gunboats if necessary to enforce her new 12-mile limit on territorial waters, MP Ron Basford told the annual meeting of New Westminster

Liberal Association Monday night.

He urged the federal government to press for a United Nations conference on Canada's enlarged territorial waters and fishing zones to gain international acceptance.

Offshore Ruling Today

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada will give its opinion today on whether the federal government or the provinces hold title to mineral riches under offshore ocean beds.

The court was asked specifically to decide jurisdiction between Ottawa and B.C., but all provinces will be affected by the decision, since a ruling for Ottawa would give landlocked provinces a share in offshore revenues.

"Our position is also now the law of Canada," he said. "If it is necessary to enforce that jurisdiction with gunboats, we will have no alternative but to send out the gunboats."

Mr. Basford, the Liberal member for Vancouver-Burrard, criticized the United States for failing to accept the new boundaries.

"The U.S., in spite of the fact that we have consulted and negotiated with them throughout, has protested and refused to recognize the Canadian position," he said.

"We should press on with our declarations of straight baselines started two weeks ago but we should also press for another conference to assure international acceptance."

He said he is optimistic that

Dance of Death

Unexplained leap to death in Hong Kong Sunday killed Lau Sik-yan, 44. As crowd watched police investigate death leap of teenage Chinese girl from rooftop ledge, Lau crawled onto ledge—dancing, balancing and skipping for 20 minutes as crowd gasped and cheered. With final laugh, he jumped, just missing firemen circling with safety net.

Unity, Ceremony Birthday Theme

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's Parliament marked its 100th anniversary Monday with speeches on national unity, colorful ceremonies, a film and a reception.

The first session of Parliament under Confederation was opened here Nov. 6, 1867, by Lord Monck, the governor-general.

In a virtual re-enactment Monday, Chief Justice John R. Cartwright came to Parliament Hill by carriage, reviewed a guard of honor while cannon boomed, then entered the Senate.

As deputy for Governor-General Michener, who is visiting Western Canada, the chief justice of the Supreme Court of Canada gave royal assent to several bills.

Then, with MPs standing behind the brass rail at the entrance, the 72-year-old jurist commented on the occasion.

"We have many things to celebrate in this centennial year," he said. "Not the least of these is the effectiveness of our form of government."

GOOD FORTUNE
"It is our good fortune and our proud boast that we in Canada enjoy a long heritage of freedom."

Canada had inherited the parliamentary system from Britain but made it its own.

SNOW-FLURRIES

Snow flurries added color to the scene as the chief justice, in top hat and tails, arrived on Parliament Hill in a fur-draped open carriage pulled by four black horses.

RCMP outriders in scarlet led the carriage to the steps below the Peace Tower, where a guard of honor in greatcoats and busbies was at attention.

A military band struck a lively tune as the chief justice, a First World War veteran, reviewed the guard.

RECEPTION

Earlier in the day, MPs gathered in the railway committee room, which has the dimensions of a train station lobby, and watched a 20-minute film about the Parliament Buildings.

The Speakers of the Senate and Commons were the hosts at a dinner-hour reception in the Confederation Room of the West Block.

National unity was the theme of a round of speeches at the

Esquimalt Split Faces Vote

Esquimalt council, in its first meeting since publication by the Colonist a week ago today of the Macdonell report on its police-fire department, voted unanimously Monday to hold a referendum early next year on a split of the department as the report recommended.

Council also passed, unanimously, a vote of confidence in the municipal police commission.

He piled up 15,961 votes in Nova Scotia's Colchester-Hants to 1,146 for Independent Liberal Robert Kirk and 238 for Independent Elwood Smith. The turnout was 52 per cent of the eligible voters, far below the 85 per cent in the 1965 general election.

Newfoundland's new federal cabinet minister, Charles Granger, won the Bonaville-Twillingate riding of J. W. Pickersgill with a margin sharply reduced from the new Canadian transport chief's 1965 edge.

MORE VOTERS

Granger, minister without portfolio, was fewer than 2,000 votes ahead of a Conservative, with an independent far back. Pickersgill won by 6,426 ballots in 1965 and the turnout of 60 per cent was a slight gain from the 56 per cent at the last national election.

While Conservatives cut the Liberal majority in Newfoundland, Liberals sliced the Tory margin in Alberta's Jasper-Edson, a riding that is to disappear in the next redistribution. Conservative Doug Caston, a weekly newspaper publisher, ended up with 6,739 votes to 3,901 for a Liberal and 1,733 for the NDP candidate.

NEW STANDINGS

Dr. Hugh Horner, who quit federal politics last spring and won an Alberta legislature seat, was a victor by 10,292 ballots in 1965. The turnout then was 72 per cent and Monday was about 65 per cent.

Commons standings now are Liberals 132, Conservatives 95, NDP 22. Creditists eight, Social Credit four, independents three and one vacancy. Stanfield is expected to take his seat when the byelection results are declared official Nov. 15.

On Land, In Air, At Sea

Weekend Takes Toll In Deadly Crashes

From AP, UPI

Britain's worst train wreck in a decade was blamed tentatively Monday on a broken rail joint that had passed inspection two days before the crash.

The wreck came during a three-day period which also saw 38 people die and 160 survive in three major air crashes, a bridge collapse take anywhere from 10 to 22 lives, and scores of others died in accidents of many kinds around the world.

The worst disaster of all came after typhoon Emma rampaged across The Philippines, leaving an estimated 300 people dead or missing. The storm left 243,000 homeless and caused damage of up to $75,000,000.

More than 80 of the typhoon victims died when an inter-island ship sank as Emma's 125-mile-an-hour winds swept the central Philippines seas. About 135 aboard the ferry were rescued.

A tidal wave was said to have wiped out the village of Bacon, south of Manila. There was no confirmation.

Another 23 Filipinos died when a bus plunged into a typhoon-swollen river on the island of Samar.

In the Caribbean, a bridge being built across the harbor of Willemstad on the Dutch resort island of Curacao collapsed with a thunderous roar, leaving 10 workmen known dead, 12 others missing and feared lost, and two badly injured.

Debris from the $15,000,000 span blocked the harbor mouth from early-morning to mid-afternoon at the peak of the season for Willemstad, one of the busiest cruise-ship ports on the Caribbean.

The 3,500-foot bridge was being built to carry four lanes of traffic across the harbor. A 1,600-foot section from the east

New Red Missiles Will Boost Big Show Today

From UPI, AP

MOSCOW (UPI)—The biggest parade in Russian history, celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, today will unveil five new Soviet missiles but will be relatively calm in attitude toward China and the west.

Soviet sources said Monday the annual parade will include new weapons for the first time in three years — a 120-foot intercontinental ballistic missile, two intermediate-range missiles, a Polaris-type submarine rocket and a tracked vehicle carrying a small anti-aircraft missile.

U.S. THERE

U.S. ambassador Llewellyn Thompson will be the first man in his position to attend a Soviet anniversary parade. Chinese diplomats also have accepted invitations but rumors Monday said they would walk out if the keynote speech by Defence Minister Grechko attacks Peking.

Soviet leaders Monday marched solemnly to Lenin's tomb as a small crowd of citizens clustered behind police barricades.

MARBLE STEPS

Pausing briefly outside, hats in hand, they then moved through the door and down the marble steps into the shadowy depths of communism's most revered shrine to pass before the mummified body of the man who led the Bolsheviks to power 50 years ago. Three minutes later, they emerged from a side door of the tomb and walked around the 16th century red brick walls of the Kremlin to deposit more wreaths at the recently-dedicated tomb of the unknown soldier.

MASS MEETING

Through most of the day, the two tombs were visited by chiefs of state and Communist Party secretaries from all over the globe who came to Moscow to pay tribute to the first socialist revolution and praise the current leaders of the Soviet Union.

Kosygin, who has looked unwell for several days, delivered a speech about revolution later

Weekend Takes Toll

ern side of the harbor gave way. Work on the western span was to have started early next year.

The list of dead from the derailment in South London Sunday evening rose to 54, with six of the 136 injured passengers rated dangerously ill.

RAIL BROKEN

Transport Minister Barbara Castle told Parliament:

"The cause seems to be a fracture at a joint of a rail that was laid only last year, but this will have to be established by the formal inquiry..."

British railway officials said the section of line where the fracture was discovered had been inspected routinely Friday. Railway welders cut away the suspect, 10-inch piece of rail early Monday.

600 YARDS

The break was discovered about 600 yards from the place in suburban Hither Green where passenger coaches of the Hastings-London electric express jumped the track, jack-knifed and overturned in a screech of metal, trapping scores of passengers.

The crash was only one station away from Lewisham, where 90 passengers died in a 1957 train collision.

NONE KILLED

The latest major air crash occurred Monday night at the Greater Cincinnati airport, when a Trans World Airlines jet carrying 27 passengers and seven crew members went down on takeoff. None was killed and only a few injuries were reported.

The Boeing 707 was flying to Los Angeles from Boston.

Witnesses said flames went 75 to 100 feet in the air from the runway and the jet's right wing was almost completely torn off. But a hostess on the plane said everything "was under control at all times."

Airport firemen said the flames were confined to the front of the plane.

In Hong Kong, civil aviation officials said the crash of a Cathay Pacific jetliner in the harbor early Sunday may have been caused by a tire blowout during takeoff. Of the 127 aboard, all were rescued but Mrs. Tran Thi Tam, wife of a South Vietnamese army officer.

At Fenshurst, England, an Iberia Airlines official said an explosion may have caused a Saturday-night jetline crash that fractured a joint of a rail that was laid only last year, but this will have to be established by the formal inquiry...

Red Birthday

in the day at a mass meeting to honor the Soviet triumph. It is about the only time the spotlight has been allowed to shine on anyone but Brezhnev among the Soviet leaders since the celebrations began.

Monday was largely a day of anticipation for ordinary Russians. It was a working day, their last before the three-day holiday gives them a chance to attack tables heavily laden with special holiday food and drink.

Fawkes Day All Wet

LONDON (AP) — Rain over much of Britain dampened the fuses of the country's annual fireworks celebrations Sunday night.

Five brigades reported only about 70 calls to quench Guy Fawkes bonfires which got out of control around Britain. Premature celebrations Saturday night resulted in about 400 calls.

Fireworks Day celebrates the 1605 gunpowder plot, when Guy Fawkes and his supporters tried unsuccessfully to blow up Parliament.

Return Trip

LONDON (Reuters) — About 140 British doctors who emigrated to Canada and the United States would like to return to Britain, Health Minister Kenneth Robinson has said.

Strained Cuban-Russian relations took another downward turn when Cuban Ambassador Raul Garcia Pelaez boycotted a visit of the diplomatic corps to the Kremlin to congratulate Podgorny on the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

In Peking Chinese defence minister Lin Pao called the leaders of modern Russia the "greatest traitors" of the world Communist movement. He was speaking on behalf of the entire Communist Chinese leadership at a Peking rally.

In Ottawa, Defence Minister Cadieux denied in the Commons that any Canadian officer had been invited to celebrations marking the Russian anniversary. Reports of such invitations had originated in the London Sunday Telegraph.

Also in Ottawa, at least 500 anti-Communists are expected to demonstrate before the Soviet embassy here today. Organizers of the demonstrations represent Ukrainians, Czechs, Hungarians, Croats and other nationalities from Communist countries.

opening of the Senate and Commons sessions.

Defence Minister Cadieux, senior Quebec minister in the cabinet, said the anniversary is an opportunity "for the formulation of an act of faith in our parliamentary institutions and in the future of our country."

Speaking after the prime minister opened Monday afternoon's sitting with a commemorative statement, Mr. Cadieux said Canada must remain united. "National unity is the only valid choice before us."

Mr. Pearson described the events of Nov. 6, 1867, as "the most important occasion in our history, the day the great Canadian parliamentary debate began."

LOOK AHEAD

In the Senate, Liberal Leader John J. Connelly recalled those who took part in the first Senate session 100 years ago, and urged senators to look ahead in optimism "for our progress, our peace and above all our unity."

Conservative Leader Jacques Flynn said that from the beginning the Senate has been the subject of criticism.

There was still a need for the upper house but some changes might be made to adapt its work to today's needs.

Racism, Vietnam War Mark Voting in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of American cities and towns choose mayors and Kentucky and Mississippi name governors today after election campaigns fraught with emotional questions of race and the Vietnam war.

National Guardsmen moved Monday into areas near Gary, Ind., where a Negro is a candidate for mayor.

A Negro is running for mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, and racial questions are indirectly involved in the Boston mayoralty race.

WHAT REACTION?

Almost everywhere there was concern among candidates as to how voters might react to the war in Vietnam and last summer's rioting and racial disorders.

An election-eve legal battle was being waged over a charge by Richard G. Hatcher, Negro Democratic party nominee for mayor of Gary, that his own party's county organization was juggling election rolls to keep him from winning.

IN CLEVELAND

In Cleveland, Carl B. Stokes, Negro Democratic nominee, is only a thin-edged favorite for election as mayor of that traditionally Democratic city.

Boston's non-partisan mayoral election pits Louise Day Hicks against Kevin H. White, now Massachusetts secretary of state. The race question arose because Mrs. Hicks, a school committee member, fought against "busing" of Negro pupils to white schools.

The Republican candidate for governor in Kentucky brought Vietnam into his campaign. One of the slogans used by Louis B. Nunn was: "Tired of the war? Vote Nunn."

Vietnam is directly on the ballot in San Francisco and in Cambridge, Mass.

Voters in Cambridge are offered a proposed resolution calling for prompt removal of U.S. troops from Vietnam and for making Dec. 1 a day of protest against the war.

A referendum question for San Francisco voters is whether it should be the city and county's policy that U.S. troops should be withdrawn from Vietnam.

Court Decides

Loyalty Oath Plan Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Supreme Court ruled in a 6-3 vote Monday that a Maryland loyalty oath requirement for public employees was unconstitutional.

The test case was brought by a college professor, Howard Whitfield, a Quaker who was denied a job at the University of Maryland last year when he refused the sign the oath.

The court took these other actions:

● Declined to grant a hearing to three army privates who were court-martialed and jailed for refusing to go to Vietnam.

● Turned down an appeal by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen who protested they were unfairly treated by a special arbitration board created by 1964 legislation to head off a railway strike.

● Accepted for arguments and a decision a Louisiana judgment in which the state held that illegitimate children were not allowed to bring damage suits for what they claimed was the wrongful death of their mother.

Hospitals Busy

The emergency wards of Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals last month treated 4,298 persons. Jubilee was the busiest, attending to 2,566 injured people. St. Joseph's saw 1,732.

● Agreed to hear the appeal of Marvin Pickering who was dismissed from his Will County, Ill., teaching job for criticizing school board policies.

● Overruled a $5,000 libel judgment against the Beckley, W.Va., Post-Herald which was sued for its editorial criticism of a 1962 political candidate.

Let Taste Make Water Choice

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: We are planning on having water delivered to our home in five-gallon lots, and can get either spring water or distilled. Would it be better to drink the spring water with its minerals left in, or the distilled water? We are in good health but just don't like the taste of tap water with chlorine in it. — Mrs. P.G.

From the health standpoint it makes no appreciable difference which you choose. Let your taste decide that — after all that's why you are getting bottled water.

Some folks complain distilled water tastes "flat" to them. It really has no taste. Spring or other water will have taste depending on the mineral content.

You can also try putting tap water in bottles or jars and letting it stand until the chlorine can dissipate. You could keep a bottle or two of tap water in the refrigerator, both to let the chlorine odor fade, and to keep the water cold.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have read that a well-balanced diet includes milk and milk products but I am allergic to milk and have been avoiding it for more than a year. How can I get the vitamins and minerals I need that are in milk products? — C.H.

Milk is a wholesome food and contains a considerable number of the things needed in a balanced diet — vitamins, minerals, some protein, some fat. But there are some people who don't tolerate it, and for them the necessities must be obtained in other ways.

You don't mention other milk products, or whether you tolerate them — cheese, butter, and other foods containing milk products. If you tolerate them, they provide some that you need.

You get some calcium from other sources: meat, fruits and vegetables. The chief vitamins in milk are A and D, both of which exist in fats, including butter and margarine.

Congolese In Control

KINSHASA, The Congo (UPI) — The Congolese government said Monday it was in full control of the eastern region Bukavu mercenary stronghold and that the four-month rebellion had ended.

What was left of the army of 130 white mercenaries and 1,000 Katangese soldiers led by Col. Jean Schramme had fled across the border to Rwanda to await evacuation by Red Cross planes.

The mercenaries marched 375 miles through the jungle from the Oriental province capital of Kiangani to Bukavu Aug. 9. They had rebelled when Congolese troops tried to disarm them on orders from President Joseph Mobutu.

Mideast Peace Feelers Follow Jordan Gun Duel

From UPI, AP

Israel, Jordan and the U.S. extended peace feelers Monday, on the heels of Sunday's gun duel between Israeli and Jordanian forces across River Jordan.

In London, Israel offered the Arab nations "objectively reasonable peace terms" if they come to a conference table to negotiate a final settlement.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told a news conference Israel will make "constructive and viable proposals" which will be "objectively reasonable" to reach a settlement with the neighboring Arab countries.

In Washington, King Hussein of Jordan said the Arabs "are willing to give a great deal" to settle the Mideast dispute but emphasized that any conciliatory moves were conditional on what Israel does. He met newsmen after conferring with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

And in the UN, the U.S. circulated a new draft resolution aimed at bringing peace to the Mideast. No details were given, but informed sources said the resolution called for appointment of a special UN envoy to the Mideast.

The gun duel across River Jordan came just before dawn Sunday and involved artillery and tank gun fire.

Israel said 10 shells hit a kibbutz — communal farm — and Jordan charged the Israeli guns aimed at civilian homes. The duel began after saboteurs blew up a kibbutz building near the river on the Israeli side. It was the third border clash in three weeks along the Israeli-Jordanian ceasefire line.

Bali Hi!

Dancing girls greet U.S. Vice-President Hubert Humphrey during overnight stay Sunday on Island of Bali. He rested there during his three-day state visit to Indonesia. In talks with President Suharto, Humphrey asked him to join other nations in seeking Vietnam peace. Suharto was also asked to "get message to Hanoi" that U.S. will not withdraw troops until settlement is reached. — (AP)

South Arabia Faces Civil War

Army Backs Freedom Group

ADEN (UPI) — The Army Monday took sides with one of two Arab groups fighting a "war of extermination" for control of the South Arabian Federation. The move threatened a civil war on the eve of independence from British Rule.

The South Arabian Army Command broadcast a statement saying it recognized the National Liberation Front as "the only representative of the South Arabian people."

The army move to take sides came after the NLF and FLOSY broke a short truce earlier in the day and fought a savage machine-gun, mortar and bazooka battle that blasted down homes and buildings in parts of Mansoura and another section of Aden called Sheikh Ohman.

The short-lived truce had been declared when a wailing crowd of 2,000 women and children took to the streets crying for the Arab fighters to put down their guns and end the bloodshed that is taking more innocent lives than those of the warriors.

At least 100 persons have been killed in the latest round of fighting that began last week with each side threatening to "exterminate" the other.

Commandos of the Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen besieged army garrison's relief and a major he a quarters at Mansoura. battle appeared inevitable.

Peso Devalued

MONTEVIDEO (AP) — The Uruguayan government has devalued the peso by more than 100 per cent in an effort to check economic deterioration. Treasury Minister Cesar Chacón ordered the currency devalued to 200 pesos to $1 U.S. from 99 pesos to $1.

U.S. Jet Downs Two MiGs

SAIGON (AP)—An American F-4 Phantom aircraft blasted down two Communist MIG-17 fighter planes over Hanoi Monday while flying cover for U.S. Air Force planes hammering a huge military storage area on the edge of the North Vietnamese capital for the first time.

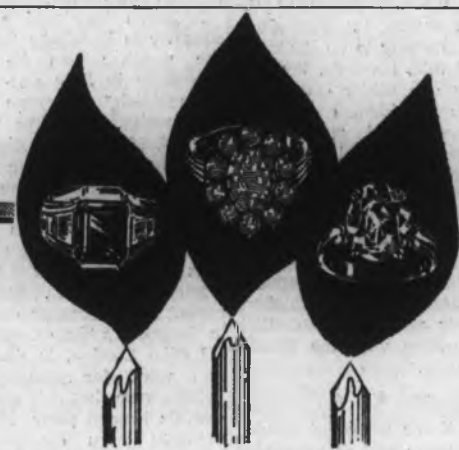

The area had previously been on the U.S. defence department's no-bombing list.

HANOI CLAIM

The U.S. command reported no losses of American planes, but Hanoi's official Vietnam news agency claimed five U.S. planes were shot down, three over Hanoi and two over Ha Bac province nearby.

The MIG kills brought to 98 the U.S.-confirmed number of Communist planes shot down by Americans in North Vietnamese air battles. Communist airmen, by U.S. count, have downed 26 U.S. planes.

The air attacks overshadowed all other action in the war Monday. U.S. and South Vietnamese reported no major ground activity in the South.

Record for Reed

Ticats Win Bye

Hamilton Tiger-Cats had a bit of trouble in Toronto Sunday but they managed to win the playoff bye in the Eastern Conference as the Canadian Football League schedule came to a finish with two games.

Staving off a possible comeback by recovering a fumble late in the game, Tiger-Cats defeated the Argonauts, 9-5, to finish one point ahead of Ottawa Rough Riders, last season's Conference champions.

In Sunday's other game, Saskatchewan Roughriders finished in a first-place tie in the Western Conference by defeating Winnipeg Blue Bombers, 24-14, but the championship and playoff bye went to Calgary Stampeders, who won two of three games played against the Riders.

Playoffs open this weekend with sudden-death semifinals, Edmonton Eskimos playing Saskatchewan in Regina on Saturday and Ottawa hosting Toronto Sunday.

Tiger-Cats took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter on a two-yard touchdown plunge by Willie Betha. They got their other points from two punts by Joe Zuger and a wide field-goal try by Tommy-Joe Coffey.

Dave Mann kicked all Toronto's points with a second-quarter field goal and two third-quarter punts. Argos were threatening late in the fourth quarter when Ted Page punted into Toronto's end zone. Walby Gable with play on the Hamilton 14-yard line. Gable fumbled, the Tiger-Cats got the ball and ran out all but three seconds of the remaining time.

Gable tried a pass on the last play but it missed.

USE LONG PASS

In Winnipeg, Riders used the long pass to get points and help the Bombers set a conference record they didn't want.

Plagued this season by injuries to 17 regulars, Bombers managed to win one game against each of their conference opponents but yielded 414 points, most ever by a team since the WFL adopted a 16-game schedule in 1952.

Fullback George Reed scored two Saskatchewan touchdowns after Gord Barwell got the first on an 88-yard pass-and-run play with Ron Lancaster. Jack Abendschan converted each time and also had a 27-yard field goal.

RECORD FOR REED

Reed toted the ball 12 times to set a CFL record of 302 carries for one season. He picked up 75 yards for a CFL high of 1,471 yards this season.

Dave Ramsey and Ron Kirkland scored the Winnipeg touchdowns and Ernie Kuzky converted each time.

A number of young fans attacked referee Al Dryburgh of Winnipeg at the final gun after he had ejected Bomber-guard Dwayne Crozier for a fracas with Saskatchewan linemen Ron Atchison. Saskatchewan players went to Dryburgh's rescue and escorted him off the field.

OTHER RESULTS

Result kept Colts a game ahead of Los Angeles Rams, who took San Francisco 49ers, 17-7, in the Coastal Division. Green Bay remained two games ahead when Chicago Bears got brilliant running from Gale Sayers to whip the second-place Detroit Lions, 27-13.

Sayers returned a kickoff 97 yards for one Bear touchdown, set up another with a 63-yard run.

Joe Kapp, benched last week after being thrown for losses four times in a row, led Minnesota Vikings to a come-from-behind 27-24 victory over New York Giants and ex-Viking Fran Tarkenton.

Cyclist Dead, 29 Injured In Pile-Up

MEXICO CITY (AP) — One cyclist died Monday and eight others remained in hospital as a result of Sunday's massive pileup involving Mexican and foreign entrants in the 2,100 kilometer Around-Mexico bike race.

Fulgencio Salazar, a Mexican competitor, died in a hospital from a double skull fracture. The 21-year-old rider was among 51 riders who crashed.

Eyewitnesses said the crash occurred Sunday when the unidentified lead cyclist approached a curve in the road with his head down, pedaling madly.

Not seeing the curve he headed straight on, left the road, and landed in a small ravine. Other cyclists piled in after him. (photo above).

Of the 51 cyclists involved in the crash, nine were not Mexican. The 29 injured were scattered over a wide area, and most of the bikes were unreparable.

Broncos Pull Away

Penitence Broncos continued to pull away in the B.C. Junior Hockey League on Sunday, scoring four third-period goals at Kelowna to whip the Buckaroos, 6-3.

With Vernon Essos playing to a 5-5 tie with the Royals in a game at New Westminster, results increased the Penitence lead to seven points over the second-place Royals and nine over the third-place Victoria Cougars.

Defenceman Jack Taggart, who assisted on a first-period goal, scored two of the third period goals and set up Bob Mowat for the 3-3 goal early in the final period.

OTHER SCORES

Eddie Hays, Wayne Schaab and Reg Cherenko scored the other Penitence goals. Bob Muir, Jim Robertson and Don Bassett scored for Buckaroos, who took a 3-2 lead into the last 20 minutes.

About 400 fans watched the action in Kelowna and about 600 turned out in New Westminster, where Jerry Vachon and Lawrence Quechuk scored in the last six minutes to earn a tie for the Essos.

Royals lost forward Sam Desimone for an indefinite period with a shoulder separation.

Red Wing Goalie Quits 'Torture'

DETROIT (CP) — Roger Crozier, the almost jockey-sized goaltender who developed an ulcer at 17, Monday decided to give up the "pure torture" of the National Hockey League for the serenity of his Bracebridge, Ont., home.

The 150-pounder announced his retirement after Detroit Red Wings said they were sending him to their Fort Worth affiliate in the Central Hockey League.

'NOT CAPABLE'

"The demotion had nothing to do with my decision to quit," Crozier told Detroit manager-coach Sid Abel.

"My wife and I talked it over last night (Sunday). I don't feel capable of playing for Fort Worth or anyone else. I'd be a nut within three weeks if I continued."

Crozier, 25, yielded 18 goals last week when Red Wings dropped three consecutive games, two to expansion clubs.

NEEDS REST

"Roger has taken this thing (the slump) worse than anyone," Abel said. "He needs a rest very badly in order to keep his health. I hope that after a few weeks he will feel better and begin to think about playing hockey again."

Crozier is the second player in as many weeks to feel the strain of big-league hockey. Toronto Maple Leaf forward Frank Mahovlich entered hospital because of depression and nervous tension.

CARE REPLACEMENT

Red Wings announced that Roy Edwards, 30, has been summoned from Fort Worth to replace Crozier. Edwards led the CPHL with a 1.33 goals-against average.

Centre Jimmy Peters, a Detroit native, also was recalled from Fort Worth and left winger John Brenneman was sent to the minor-league team.

Crozier's retirement comes as no surprise. He has indicated in the past that playing goal in the NHL is an unsuitable occupation for a worrier.

He once confided: "I like everything about hockey, the travelling, the friends I've met, the interviews. Everything but the games. They're pure torture."

TROPHY WINNER

Crozier won the Calder Memorial Trophy in 1964-65 as the NHL's top rookie. In 1965-66, he earned the Conn Smythe Trophy as the most valuable player in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

During the summer of 1965, Crozier was stricken with pancreatitis. For a time, his life was in danger and there was doubt whether he would play hockey again.

Last season was his most dismal in the NHL. His goals-against average ballooned to 3.35 following 2.42 and 2.78 in the previous seasons.

Management gave him a vacation with the hope a rest would transform him back into the Crozier of old. It didn't work.

"Detroit has had such great goalies as Terry Sawchuk, Glenn Hall and Harry Lumley," Crozier once said. "And now they're stuck with a little runt like me."

No Teaparty at Boston

Hull, Howe Shine

Chicago Black Hawks have been in a season-long slump and Detroit Red Wings are having their troubles after a promising start but nothing is stopping Bobby Hull and Gordie Howe from putting the puck in the net.

There was a wild fight in Boston and the expansion clubs took four out of a possible six points from the established clubs but Hull and Howe shared the National Hockey League spotlight on an eventful Sunday night.

Hull scored his 11th goal of the season, which is 44 per cent of his club's total, as the Hawks could do no better than a 2-2 tie with California Seals and the Conacher and gave the Leafs forward a good going over.

Reports, denied by the Leafs, state that captain George Armstrong led the Leafs who were on the bench into action which resulted in a wild free-for-all as Boston players rushed off their bench to equalize matters.

That set up a verbal fight between Boston-coach Harry Sinden and Toronto's Punch Imlach.

"Maybe Imlach didn't send his players out but he let them go," the irate Sinden fumed.

"There's no doubt in my mind that Mr. Senior Coach in the League let his players out."

"He's a liar," retorted Imlach. "I don't need excuses to run my club."

Imlach, however, did have an excuse for the pummeling Conacher took from Orr, claiming that Conacher had lost one of his contact lenses in the action.

Unitas Outduels Starr in Classic

It wasn't exciting for 55 minutes except to the punists but Johnny Unitas won a classic football battle with Green Bay's vaunted defence Sunday.

Unitas, who hadn't thrown a touchdown pass against the National Football League champions in the last five games the clubs had played, threw two of them in the last five minutes before 60,238 delirious Baltimore fans to keep the Colts the only unbeaten NFL team with a 13-0 victory.

It was a defensive battle from the start with the only score in the first three quarters a 49-yard field goal by Don Chandler in the second quarter.

OFF TARGET EARLY

Harried continually by the Packers and with his receivers well covered, Unitas was a bit off-target with his passing until the game seemed lost. Packers had taken a 10-0 lead when Donny Anderson got behind a roulie linebacker to take a pass from Bart Starr for a 31-yard scoring play in the fourth quarter.

But the Packers couldn't stop the incomparable Unitas from there. His cool, signal-calling finally brought fruit about three minutes from the time when he hit Alex Hawkins, the man the Colts call "Super-sub," in the end zone with a 10-yard pass.

But Lou Michaels was wide with the convert try and the Colts had to go for a second touchdown to win.

ON-SIDE KICKOFF

Michaels made amends with an on-side-kickoff which was recovered by Colt-rookie Rick Volk on the Green Bay 34-yard line.

Packers came up with a great defence, holding the Colts to six yards on the first three downs but Unitas, running like a man demented, got the first down on the 23-yard line. He hit Willie Richardson with a pass on the two-yard line on the next play, Richardson evaded Lionel Aldridge and swept over the line and Michaels made the convert.

Packers had 79 seconds left to go 80 yards after the kickoff but a holding penalty set them back and they eventually gave up the ball on downs on their own 18-yard line when a fourth-and-12 pass fell to the ground.

OTHER RESULTS

Result kept Colts a game ahead of Los Angeles Rams, who took San Francisco 49ers, 17-7, in the Coastal Division. Green Bay remained two games ahead when Chicago Bears got brilliant running from Gale Sayers to whip the second-place Detroit Lions, 27-13.

Sayers returned a kickoff 97 yards for one Bear touchdown, set up another with a 63-yard run.

Joe Kapp, benched last week after being thrown for losses four times in a row, led Minnesota Vikings to a come-from-behind 27-24 victory over New York Giants and ex-Viking Fran Tarkenton.

Wysong Drives Casper 'Crazy'

HONOLULU (AP) — Dudley Wysong addresses a golf ball as if afraid it was going to hit him back.

He started the $100,000 Hawaiian Open playing so badly he said he wasn't sure where the ball was going after he hit it.

But when it came down to the final holes, the quiet Texan refused to fold under the birdie pressure of veteran Billy Casper, and Wysong won the $20,000 first prize in a sudden death playoff.

Wysong and Casper finished the 72-hole tournament, played over the wind-swept, 7,000-yard Waialae course tied at 284.

That was four under par for the four rounds.

The first prize check was Wysong's largest, and the victory only his second. He won the Phoenix Open last year.

He has a strange address. He puts his club behind the house and then moves it three or four inches to the right until the club and the ball aren't facing each other at all.

"It drives you crazy to watch him," said Casper.

Salesman-of-the-year

The secret of making a business grow is, in most cases, quite simple—win more and more customers spread over a wider and wider area. Nothing helps you find them, sell them, satisfy them and re-sell them so quickly and economically as the skilled use of your telephone. Here are just a few profit-making ideas.

Call for Orders

This big-city truck dealer has no problem about keeping in touch with his many customers and prospects in distant parts of the province. Head office sales staff follow up leads, arrange demonstrations, solicit orders and maintain contact with established customers by a carefully planned routine of Long Distance calls. Think of the convenience! He has his customers at his fingertips and keeps right up with their requirements. Cost is negligible compared with operating local offices. Finally, this dealer also lists a ZENITH number in key centres like Nanaimo, Kamloops and Prince George. It enables customers and prospects there to call him without cost to themselves—another valuable business-builder!

Salesman on the Wing

This salesman is on a trip through his company's market area, extending from Vancouver to the Lakehead. One of the most useful things he carries is his B.C. TEL Long Distance Credit Card. This enables him to make Long Distance calls from anywhere. He uses it constantly to confirm appointments at his next stopover and contact inconveniently located accounts. He also keeps in daily touch, of course, with head office: reporting on progress; channeling orders, queries and complaints for fast action; collecting fresh leads as he flies from point to point. His periodic "swing through the territory" is quite an expensive item of overhead. Long Distance ensures, at minimum cost, that his company gets every last cent of value from it.

"Touring" by Phone

This busy Sales Manager, "tours" his area in a morning—with B.C. TEL's Sequence Calling service. He simply gives the operator the list of Long Distance numbers he wants. She gets them for him in the right order and at the intervals most convenient for his other work. He holds regular Conference Calls, too, with his company's three other offices in Calgary, Winnipeg and Toronto—all four of them on the line together, talking and listening as though they were in the same room. There's no end to the profit-making uses of properly planned Long Distance calling. Ask one of our experienced Communication Experts to explain some of the possibilities for your business—naturally without obligation. Contact him TODAY.

Assize Court Told:

'I Was Asleep'
Said Accused

NANAIMO — Assize court was told Monday that a man charged with criminal negligence claimed he was sleeping in the back seat of the death car, at the time of the accident.

Daniel Robert Burns, 24, is charged with criminal negligence causing the death of Margaret Clayton, 49, Nanaimo.

He is also charged with impaired driving and hit and run.

Mrs. Evelyn Herman was in a car, five miles north of Nanaimo, June 5.

She described the action of another car: "It gave a little swerve, got back pretty well on its own side, and it seemed all right."

"Then all of a sudden it turned toward me again."

The crown claims the Clayton car was struck from behind, and forced into the path of an oncoming vehicle.

But witnesses said the accused told them he was actually in the Clayton car, and in fact claimed he was a son of the Claytons.

Garry William Harding, a resident of Wellington, was first on the scene to give aid.

He testified "There was an awful crash," whereupon he ran out of his road home.

He looked into the Clayton vehicle.

"I noticed how badly the people in there were hurt."

"He (identifying Burns) was standing at the Clayton car, slapping the driver ... asking him to wake up."

lance left, he did not see Burns again, near the accident.

Mr. Justice J. G. Gould presides, with William Verchere, Nanaimo, as defence counsel, David Williams, Duncan, crown counsels.

Mrs. Herman testified because her daughter received a bad head cut, she was too worried to notice much of what happened at the scene.

Later, at Nanaimo Regional General Hospital, she said Burns approached her twice in a half-hour period, claiming he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton, saying that his mother was dead, and his father was seriously injured.

He claimed at the time, according to Mrs. Herman, that he had been asleep in the death car's rear seat.

Several witnesses testified to seeing a car which answered to the description of Burns' car driving at high speeds.

One testified he saw a similar car travelling at 80 miles an hour, as it passed the weighing station at Parksville.

Another, Paul Huckl of West Vancouver, said as he passed through Nanaimo, seven miles south of the weighing station, "all of a sudden there was a car approaching very rapidly and erratically."

He said the car forced two oncoming vehicles onto the shoulder of the road, when the driver attempted to pass on a double solid line, and another two when the driver made a second successful attempt, still crossing the two solid lines.

With the caught sight of the car on Nanaimo flats, the car was weaving across the centre line onto the right shoulder.

Indian Band Builds Jobs
To Go with New Homes

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — The battle for better housing is being turned into a job-training program for the Cowichan Indian Band.

More than a year ago the band was fighting for better housing. As a result of that protest, Indian workers began construction on new homes two weeks ago.

By Monday, the foundations for 19 homes were laid.

Trained Workmen

But more than just providing homes, the housing project will also turn out trained Indian workers, ready for other jobs. The method by which the new Indian subdivision at Boys Road rises was designed by North Vancouver contractor and project supervisor William Boychuck.

His secret is on-the-job training of Indians. Although most of the seven workers had no experience, the building is forging ahead.

The band's housing manager, Abner Thorne, has no doubt the projected 19 houses will be ready by the end of March.

Five Year Plan

A total of $141,000 has been earmarked by the Indian Affairs Department.

Bill Boychuck has been after the Indian department and after the Squamish Indian Band for the past five years to start the training and building program.

He said, "The department advised me my idea has a lot of merit, and if individual bands would like to try it, the department would assist."

"The Cowichan Band is the first in Canada to make use of this program."

Union Helps

The band's housing manager heard about Boychuck through the Squamish band.

Now, all day the North Vancouver general contractor and two union carpenters instruct the Indian workers while the houses are rising.

Boychuck said, "I spoke with the business manager of the union, and it is willing to co-operate with us."

Each of the houses will cost $7,000.

Each will have two bedrooms and a bathroom with complete plumbing and wiring.

Boychuck said "The on-the-job training will teach the Indians that they will be able to carry out future building projects on their own, because they will have the craftsmen to do it."

All the new homes are built to NHA specifications, and each dwelling will have 840 square feet of garden.

Joseph Charlie had never worked in construction.

Two weeks ago he asked for a job, and he is already able to put in forms for foundations by himself.

Never Sad

"Bill taught us most of these things, and I like it."

Tom Underwood and Jerry Jim also find Boychuck an excellent teacher, and Ray Peters said "With Bill around, we never have a sad moment."

Peters said a recession 10 years ago forced him to give up his carpenter's apprenticeship, because he had to provide for his family and his aged father.

He became a longshoreman, but now "I hope to finish my apprenticeship. All those things I learned come back now easily, and Bill helps a lot. We are going to have a construction class next month."

Even one of the band's carvers' Cleo August, belongs to the construction crew.

Happy Labor

He said demand for carvings is slow at this time of the year, and although he prefers carving, "I am happy to help to build our new homes."

For James Monroe, construction is also a completely new field, but he learns fast and looks forward to a future in the new trade.

Peters said at first the new crew needed a full day to put in the forms for a house foundation.

Now it only takes three to four hours.

By GEORGE INGLIS

Premier Bennett has advised north Island residents to campaign to have the Nanaimo - Port Hardy stretch of road declared part of the Trans-Canada Highway.

The premier said federal money would then pay for road extension.

And Highway Minister Gagliardi said he will fly from Vancouver to Port Hardy in his Lear jet Nov. 28, surveying a route which may later be developed as highway.

This was some of the action Island chamber of commerce members received, when they presented a major bid for more north Island roads, to Premier Bennett and his cabinet Monday in Victoria.

Good Show

"We were beautifully received," said Gerald Furney of Port McNeill, spokesman for the Mount Waddington region of the chamber, who presented a four-page brief to the cabinet ministers Monday afternoon.

Premier Bennett was "careful, relentless in his questioning," said the chamber spokesman, "but he was pleasant and receptive, as were all the cabinet ministers ... a beautiful example of the best kind of democracy."

Communication

Mainly, the northern chamber representatives were seeking to link the northern two-thirds of the Island with the populated and industrial southern third. The southern delegates to the associated chambers lent their support to the requests.

Premier Bennett emphasized that he did not make promises, "until the contract is let," but suggested a possible alternative.

The highways minister said he would hire a helicopter, following a luncheon in Port McNeill, and tour the entire area, assessing the highway needs.

Cat Skinner

The promise of Mr. Gagliardi, who has not seen the dramatic growth of the country since he was a cat skinner in Kelsey Bay many years ago, is something Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, MLA for the area, has been trying to accomplish for many years.

Chamber delegates told the premier they were seeking a 50-mile stretch of highway from Kelsey Bay to Beaver Cove, a distance now covered by the Prince Rupert ferry, in 70 of its most tortuous miles (the area where the ferry recently ran aground).

Big Saving

The theory advanced by Mr. Furney was that the B.C. F. Authority would save $1,000,000 a year by reducing the ferry's run by those miles — a saving that could make up the cost of the highway link in two years.

Mr. Furney presented figures to support his contention that the road from Beaver Cove to Port Hardy, which would provide a complete link with Kelsey Bay and Port Hardy, would only cost about $2,000,000. (Estimates made by the government ran about $27,000,000 in 1965.)

Remote Four

In his brief to the government, Mr. Furney pointed out that 10,000 people are isolated in four municipalities — Gold River, Port Hardy, Port Alice (Rumble Beach), and Port McNeill.

Highways Minister Gagliardi had one ray of hope for northern chamber delegates, besides agreeing to make his first-ever trip to the area. He disclosed for the first time his department had made surveys of the area, with a view to possible linkage of existing logging roads into a communication route.

Mr. Furney said he felt the

from the U.S., a matter of several hundred dollars per trip.

The chamber representatives from the north had high praise for Dan Campbell, Sored MLA for Comox, whom Mr. Furney said was "a terrific representative, who knows everybody by their first names, and all their problems."

No Hospital

One of the vital problems faced by the 10,000 isolated people, Mrs. Ellertsen of Port Hardy said, is the fact that there is no hospital in the area, and sick persons must fly to Vancouver or Alert Bay. Also, for two years, citizens had to contribute personally to the maintenance of a doctor in the area to ensure medical care.

As Mr. Furney put it, "The northern section of Vancouver Island is like an iceberg, with only about one-third of it emerged, and the rest cut off from the sunshine of growth and prosperity."

Mr. Furney, who immigrated from Ireland 12 years ago, also compared his native island with Vancouver Island, saying, "They are the same length and breadth. If Ireland can support 3,000,000 people, this island can support at least 2,000,000."

"But not without communication."

Chemainus Man Dies
In Banff Car Crash

A Chemainus man died in a head-on collision of two cars Monday night on the Trans-Canada Highway near Banff.

The dead man is Edward Joseph Tansky, 44. Also killed in the crash were two Japanese girls from Calgary.

Stephen David Tansky, 26, Chemainus, is in hospital with a broken leg.

Raging Fires
Wreck Houses

Weekend fires ripped apart houses in Duncan and Parksville.

In Parksville a three-room cottage was gutted. The cottage was a frame building owned by Mrs. K. M. Almey, and it was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Neil Rigby.

The Duncan fire destroyed an old guest house.

The building was called the Rancho Del Rio, located on Riverbottom Road. It is outside Duncan and North Cowichan, so neither fire department attended.

In the Parksville incident, the Rigbys lost all their furniture and household effects, including many items of sentimental value collected over the years.

The family dog and cat also lost their lives in the blaze.

Mr. Rigby and neighbor, Ames Rosvold returned from visiting Mrs. Rigby, who is a patient in the Nanaimo Hospital, to find the cottage full of smoke.

When Mr. Rigby opened the door the air fanned the blaze, and although Parksville Volunteer Fire Department arrived quickly at the scene, the fire was out of control.

Mr. Rigby and Mr. Rosvold endeavored their lives in making valiant attempts to save the pets and in the final attempt Mr. Rosvold became trapped by the flames, and had to escape through the bathroom window.

Firemen prevented the fire from spreading to other homes nearby, and the Rigby's car which was parked in front of the cottage was towed to safety.

An estimate of the value of the loss was not available but household effects and personal belongings were not covered by insurance.

The cottage was insured. Neighbors have offered the use of their homes until Mr. and Mrs. Rigby can set up housekeeping again.

In the Duncan district five police arrived at the scene about 11:30 p.m.

A call was put through to the B.C. Forest Service, but an official told police the Forest Service had no equipment for fighting house fires.

The occupants of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Marlowe, were able to escape from the blazing building.

However, they were unable to save anything from the house.

Mr. Marlowe is the caretaker of the guest house. The owner of the building, Gordon Williams was away at the time of the fire.

The blaze apparently started in the fireplace in the main living room, and the fire quickly spread throughout the old building.

Lights
For North

COURTENAY — Residents in the northern area who recently voted themselves into the city, got a gift from their new city fathers Monday.

Protections committee head Ald. Harry Harris said B.C. Hydro investigated street lighting needed in the newest section of Courtenay.

MANY LIGHTS

Ald. Harris recommended 35 lights be installed, and administrator Bill Moore was authorized to go ahead.

Ald. Harris also presented a plan for 11 traffic signs to be placed near district playgrounds, including the new Maple Leaf Park area. Council will discuss the matter further.

NO VANDALISM

Moore told council there was no vandalism to parking meters in the past month. This has been a serious problem.

He also reported there was no damage to public property in the month. Court fines totalled $1,500, and there were 70 parking tickets handed out.

Another Candidate for Mayor

Election Fever Takes Hold

PORT ALBERNI — With centennial-amalgamation week behind them, citizens are getting primed for a hard-hitting civic election ahead.

George Dunbar, 46-year-old certified general accountant, has announced his intention of contesting the mayoralty against two previously-announced candidates, Mayor Les Hamer and Deputy Mayor Fred Bishop of the new city of Port Alberni.

Dunbar has lived here 14 years and has 3 children.

"I have not yet filed my nomination papers, but I do intend to run," Dunbar said.

"I see the need for a greater degree of integrity, sound judgment and progress with economy in civic affairs."

School teacher Ken Hoffman, first week announced, his intention to run for alderman, is also getting in fighting trim.

Monday, Hoffman issued a news release asking equal fire protection for all in the new city.

"We have a lovely amalgamated fire hall, and equipment second to none in B.C."

"It is important that all our citizens receive the same fire protection, and this at present is impossible if the fire equipment cannot get to the fire on time."

Hoffman said that since all residents will now be bearing the same tax load, none should be forced to pay higher fire premium rates.

Rates in the former Port Alberni area were reduced $1 a thousand last year, when the paid fire department was instituted. Rates in the former city of Alberni remained the same.

While deputy sat in for him in Ottawa Monday as Parliament marked its 100th anniversary, Governor-General Michener continued tour of his native Alberta that ends Wednesday. He also found time for calisthenics, doing early-morning kicks in Red Deer railroad yard in near-freezing temperatures which kept everyone away but one hardy cameraman.

SHARP BLUNT

CALGARY (CP) — The Herald Monday quoted Finance Minister Sharp as saying Prime Minister Pearson "does not intend to take the Liberal party through the next election" unless one is called soon.

The newspaper said Sharp made the remark to a meeting of young Liberals Saturday and was unaware reporters were present. The reporters had been invited.

Sharp said there was no doubt Pearson intends to retire soon and it was "a question of when." (See also Page 11.)

He said later he thought the meeting was closed to the press and had been "far franker than I would have been" if he had known reporters were there. He had not intended to make public remarks about the prime minister's plans.

Sharp said he was speaking in terms of problems facing the Liberal party. One was that Mr. Pearson would probably not be the leader in the next election.

He added: "As far as I am concerned it is a problem, because I believe Mr. Pearson would be the best man to face Mr. Stanfield in the next election."

Sharp also told the meeting the government plans to proceed with its medical care insurance program, and added: "To the extent medicare comes in, I shall have to raise taxes."

Asked what effect the medical plan would have on Ottawa's budgetary problems, he said: "An adverse effect."

Tories Press for Probe

Judy Fights Snipers

By RON COLLISTER
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Progressive Conservative MPs will try again today to force the Judy LaMarsh-CBC row into a parliamentary committee for investigation.

Monday, Speaker Lucien

Lamoureux ruled out of order a Conservative bid to postpone second reading of the new broadcasting bill until it, and the troubles of the secretary of state, have been sent to the Commons broadcasting committee for study.

Tory rules expert G. W. Baldwin said his party wants to get CBC president Alphonse Ouimet and the state secretary "into the bullring to find out what they are talking about."

He stressed he meant examination of the charges of "rotten management" in the CBC, made by Miss LaMarsh last week.

The Tories show no sign of easing up in their assault on the accident-prone Miss LaMarsh, but the government is gambling it can ride out the storm.

In the Commons, Miss LaMarsh pleaded the traditional defence of newsmen about safeguarding their sources of information.

"It is very difficult to pass on any of this information without pointing to people in the corporation to whom reference is made or to the people who have been the sources of my information," she said.

"I feel that, if I were to disclose the names of any of the sources, no secretary of state hereafter would ever have any information about what was going on in the corporation."

"I do not, therefore, propose to name any of these individuals, now or at any time," she added.

Miss LaMarsh said she did not believe anything further could be gained from speculation about the individuals who are responsible, or who appear to be responsible (for rotten management).

"Unless I am specific, to say anything more about it would narrow it down to some individuals, but still touch those who might not be responsible."

Tory Tom Bell sniped at Miss LaMarsh: "Why did you start it, then?"

"Any suggestion I started anything shows only the ignorance of the man who said that," she snapped back.

"The reports which this government, and earlier governments, have commissioned over the past few years have indicated exactly the same thing."

She said the new CBC appointments would not be announced until after the broadcasting bill is approved by Parliament.

Basford on Fishing Limits

Send Out Gunboats

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Canada should use gunboats if necessary to enforce her new 12-mile limit on territorial waters, MP Ron Basford told the annual meeting of New Westminster

Liberal Association Monday night.

He urged the federal government to press for a United Nations conference on Canada's enlarged territorial waters and fishing zones to gain international acceptance.

Offshore Ruling Today

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada will give its opinion today on whether the federal government or the provinces hold title to mineral riches under offshore ocean beds.

The court was asked specifically to decide jurisdiction between Ottawa and B.C., but all provinces will be affected by the decision, since a ruling for Ottawa would give landlocked provinces a share in offshore revenues.

"Our position is also now the law of Canada," he said. "If it is necessary to enforce that jurisdiction with gunboats, we will have no alternative but to send out the gunboats."

Mr. Basford, the Liberal member for Vancouver-Parrad, criticized the United States for failing to accept the new boundaries.

"The U.S., in spite of the fact that we have consulted and negotiated with them throughout, has protested and refused to recognize the Canadian position," he said.

"We should press on with our declarations of straight baselines started two weeks ago but we should also press for another conference to assure international acceptance."

He said he is optimistic that

Dance of Death

Unexplained leap to death in Hong Kong Sunday killed Lau Sik-yan, 44. As crowd watched police investigate death leap of teenage Chinese girl from rooftop ledge, Lau crawled onto ledge—dancing, balancing and skipping for 20 minutes as crowd gasped and cheered. With final laugh, he jumped, just missing firemen circling with safety net.

Unity, Ceremony Birthday Theme

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's Parliament marked its 100th anniversary Monday with speeches on national unity, colorful ceremonies, a film and a reception.

The first session of Parliament under Confederation was opened here Nov. 6, 1867, by Lord Monck, the governor-general.

ROYAL ASSENT

As deputy for Governor-General Michener, who is visiting Western Canada, the chief justice of the Supreme Court of Canada gave royal assent to several bills.

Then, with MPs standing behind the brass rail at the entrance, the 72-year-old jurist commented on the occasion.

"We have many things to celebrate in this centennial year," he said. "Not the least of these is the effectiveness of our form of government."

GOOD FORTUNE

"It is our good fortune and our proud boast that we in Canada enjoy a long heritage of freedom."

Canada had inherited the parliamentary system from Britain but made it its own.

SNOW FLURRIES

Snow flurries added color to the scene as the chief justice, in top hat and tails, arrived on Parliament Hill in a fur-draped open carriage pulled by four black horses.

RCMP outriders in scarlet led the carriage to the steps below the Peace Tower, where a guard of honor in greatcoats and busbies was at attention.

RECEPTION

Earlier in the day, MPs gathered in the railway committee room, which has the dimensions of a train station lobby, and watched a 20-minute film about the Parliament Buildings.

The Speakers of the Senate and Commons were the hosts at a dinner-hour reception in the Confederation Room of the West Block.

National unity was the theme of a round of speeches at the

Chemist Zooms Skyward

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The U.S. early today fired a robot chemist, named Surveyor 3 toward the moon on a risky lunar landing mission to confirm a prime astronaut landing site is safe for men.

The three-legged spacecraft left earth exactly on schedule and is due to land on the moon Thursday. (Other U.S. space stories are on Page 17.)

He piled up 15,961 votes in Nova Scotia's Colchester-Hants to 1,146 for Independent Liberal Robert Kirk and 238 for Independent Elwood Smith. The turnout was 52 per cent of the eligible voters, far below the 85 per cent in the 1965 general election.

Newfoundland's new federal cabinet minister, Charles Granger, won the Bonaville-Twillingate riding of J. W. Pickersgill with a margin sharply reduced from the new Canadian transport chief's 1965 edge.

MORE VOTES

Granger, minister without portfolio, was fewer than 2,000 votes ahead of a Conservative, with an independent far back. Pickersgill won by 6,426 ballots in 1965 and the turnout of 60 per cent was a slight gain from the 56 per cent at the last national election.

While Conservatives cut the Liberal majority in Newfoundland, Liberals sliced the Tory margin in Alberta's Jasper-Edson, a riding that is to disappear in the next redistribution. Conservative Doug Caston, a weekly newspaper publisher, ended up with 6,739 votes to 3,901 for Liberal and 1,733 for the NDP candidate.

NEW STANDINGS

Dr. Hugh Horner, who quit federal politics last spring and won an Alberta legislature seat, was a victor by 10,292 ballots in 1965. The turnout then was 72 per cent and Monday was about 65 per cent.

Commons standings now are Liberals 132, Conservatives 95, NDP 22, Creditistes eight, Social Credit four, independents three and one vacancy. Stanfield is expected to take his seat when the byelection results are declared official Nov. 15.

On Land, In Air, At Sea

Weekend Takes Toll In Deadly Crashes

From AP, UPI

Britain's worst train wreck in a decade was blamed tentatively Monday on a broken rail joint that had passed inspection two days before the crash.

The wreck came during a three-day period which also saw 38 people die and 160 survive in three major air crashes, a bridge collapse take anywhere from 10 to 22 lives, and scores of others died in accidents of many kinds around the world.

The worst disaster of all came after typhoon Emma raged across the Philippines, leaving an estimated 300 people dead or missing. The storm left 243,000 homeless and caused a damage of up to $75,000,000.

More than 80 of the typhoon victims died when an inter-island ship sank as Emma's 125-mile-an-hour winds swept the central Philippines seas. About 135 aboard the ferry were rescued.

A tidal wave was said to have wiped out the village of Bacon, south of Manila. There was no confirmation.

Another 23 Filipinos died when a bus plunged into a typhoon-swollen river on the island of Samar.

In the Caribbean, a bridge

being built across the harbor of Willemstad on the Dutch resort island of Curacao collapsed with a thunderous roar, leaving 10 workmen known dead, 12 others missing and feared lost, and two badly injured.

Debris from the $15,000,000 span blocked the harbor mouth from early-morning to mid-afternoon at the peak of the season for Willemstad, one of the busiest cruise-ship ports on the Caribbean.

The 3,500-foot bridge was being built to carry four lanes of traffic across the harbor. A 1,600-foot section from the east

Canada's position can be put into an international treaty or convention.

The United States should welcome a conference under

UN auspices because it will afford an opportunity to state its case against the Canadian position before an international panel, he said.

New Red Missiles Will Boost Big Show Today

From UPI, AP

MOSCOW (UPI) — The biggest parade in Russian history, celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, today will unveil five new Soviet missiles but will be relatively calm in attitude toward China and the west.

Soviet sources said Monday the annual parade will include new weapons for the first time in three years — a 120-foot intercontinental ballistic missile, two intermediate-range missiles, a Polaris-type submarine rocket and a tracked vehicle carrying a small anti-aircraft missile. (See also Page 5.)

U.S. THERE

U.S. ambassador Llewellyn Thompson will be the first man in his position to attend a Soviet anniversary parade. Chinese diplomats also have accepted invitations but rumors Monday said they would walk out if the keynote speech by Defence Minister Grechko attacked Peking.

Soviet leaders Monday marched solemnly to Lenin's tomb as a small crowd of citizens clustered behind police barricades.

Esquimalt Faces Police-Fire Vote

Council Unanimous
On Ballot, Support

By NANCY BROWN

Esquimalt's sizzling police-fire department hassle will be finally solved by the ratepayers themselves early in the New Year.

At the end of a stormy meeting Monday, Esquimalt council voted unanimously to hold a referendum early next year to see if taxpayers are willing to pay the price for a separate fire department.

The decision came at the first council meeting since much of the long-secret Macdonell report on the integrated 27-man department was published by the Colonist a week ago today.

One estimate is a separate fire staff would boost taxes by nine mills, or $50 on a $15,000 home.

United Appeal

Total Jumps To $477,965

The United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal fund has jumped to $477,965, up about $50,000 since Friday's total.

Collections now stand at 79.6 per cent of the $600,000 goal. Residential collections have reached $94,945, or 85.5 per cent of the target of $106,200. This includes Sidney, North Saanich and Central Saanich.

Helping to swell the fund is $19,500 from the B.C. government Employees Community Services Fund, up from $11,533 last year. Eaton's employees and the company gave $14,050 this year, up from $12,700 last year.

The first division to go over the top, the federal services, was honored Monday when Commodore R. V. Henning and District Marine Agent Larry Slaght were presented with an illuminated scroll. Frank Donegan was also given a scroll when his division, individual advance gifts, went over the top.

Tax Sale Land Bought by City

For the first time since 1935, the city on Monday bought up all the properties put on the block at a land tax sale.

This year there were 11 and they brought $5,670. In 1935, there were 479 and they brought $192,000.

Owners of the land sold by and to the city will have one year to redeem the properties. They must pay the amount of taxes and other charges against the properties, plus interest at 6 per cent.

***

The lack of interest in land sales for taxes was indicated by the fact there were never more than five spectators and buyers, and no property was sold above the "knockdown price" (amount of taxes and other charges owing on the land).

Three of the sales were for pieces of vacant land, none of which brought more than $200.

Four Medals For Victorians

Four more Victorians have been awarded silver centennial medals for service to Canada.

Medals were received by Norman Forbes, principal of Oaklands elementary school; George Burrell, district manager of the Veterans' Land Administration; Margaret Thompson, teacher at the Christian Elementary private school, and Mrs. Patricia Hewitt, teacher at Belmont Park's John Stubbs school.

Mrs. Hewitt introduced the Initial Teaching Alphabet of 44 phonetic sounds.

McRae Pact Alive

By DON GAIN

Last-minute developments Monday opened up new but unnamed possibilities for agreement in the purchase by Saanich of the McRae Estate.

"This happened only this afternoon," Reeve Hugh Curtis said Monday night at the end of a four-hour council meeting.

He told council he would like to hold a special open council meeting the latter part of this week or the first of next week "to lay before you whatever I have at that time."

UNTIL LATER

"It merits a delay," he said. Council moved to table the matter until the special meeting.

Before this disclosure a letter from Robert Price, lawyer for the McRae family, said a proposal submitted by letter on Oct. 20 by the reeve was "not acceptable" because it was substantially the same as one made Oct. 4, which was rejected.

NO PURPOSE

Mr. Price wrote that it was felt "that no useful purpose would be served in pursuing further attempts to bargain at a price less than that determined by the arbitration board."

The board assessed the value of the property at $1,200,000. The municipality offered $900,000.

Mr. Price wrote that the family hoped the whole "or a substantial part of the property . . . might continue in perpetuity as a recreational site."

"For this reason I have suggested two alternatives either of which would permit the municipality to purchase the property. They are (1) that the municipality purchase three-quarters of the land for $900,000 or (2) that the municipality purchase the whole of the land and pay the balance of $300,000 in time payments."

Mr. Price asked for a reply by Thursday.

But discussions with the family Monday afternoon led to the new developments and the plan to call a special meeting within a week.

Racial Bias Charged In Saanich Rezoning

Racial prejudice was hinted Monday night as Saanich council's reason for a Sept. 12 veto of a rezoning bid by Henry Eng to build a golf course and driving range on Blenkinsop.

A number of letters supporting a submission of Mr. Eng's application to have some 22 acres at 4090 Blenkinsop rezoned from farm and residential to residential and commercial recreation status were read to council.

The area is between Blenkinsop and Cumberland in the peat bog section of the Blenkinsop valley.

Some of the letters said council was prejudiced in its consideration of Mr. Eng's application.

"This is a scurrilous attack on council," said Coun. Digby Kier angrily.

Reeve Hugh Curtis said it was highly unfortunate that prejudice should be introduced into this question.

He said the ground rules have always been laid use.

"The inferences drawn are most unfortunate," he added.

The proposed nine-hole golf course and the driving range development will have parking facilities for 60 cars. It will also include a small two-story building for offices and a coffee shop.

Council contends the area is prime agricultural land and should be retained as such, and decided to table the application until its next meeting.

On School Board

Four Seeking Saanich Seat

Saanich got its fourth candidate for the Greater Victoria school board Monday with the entry of William Hibbert, 1625 San Pedro.

Interest in the Dec. 9 school board election is swinging toward Saanich, where four outsiders are seeking the seat to be left vacant at year's end by long-time trustee Frances Thompson.

Mr. Hibbert, 35, married and the father of three, works in the printing department of Bapco Paint Supply Ltd. He has lived in Greater Victoria nearly all his life.

"WORK WITH TEAM"

"The school board seems to be pushing toward better education," said Mr. Hibbert. "I'd like to work with the team."

Other candidates for Saanich representation on the board are former trustee Richard Reeve, 4105 Torquay; Mrs. R. B. Restall, 3208 Bellevue, prominent in parent-teacher work; and Oak Bay purchasing agent Douglas Brown, 3895 Scotton Road.

In Victoria, incumbents John Porteous and Dr. Victor Rogers are running again, along with retired electronics technician Joseph Hager, 1516 Pembroke.

In Oak Bay, board chairman Peter Burn has no declared opponent yet.

There is no trustee election in Esquimalt this year.

School Referendum Briefing

Building Cost Sky-High

The soaring cost of construction was detailed for Saanich school district ratepayers Monday at a meeting which aired the need for a $554,800 supplementary referendum.

***

The gathering in Royal Oak elementary school drew only about 40 people to hear buildings and grounds superintendent Bryan Shaw explain the Dec. 9 referendum.

Reason for the referendum, said board chairman Mrs. Nora Lindsay, is that funds of $1,555,400 voted in 1965 have become inadequate to pay for land and buildings included in the program.

Saanich school district extends north up the peninsula from Royal Oak. It now has 4,173 pupils, said Mr. Shaw, but will probably have 8,600 by 1981.

Mr. Shaw presented statistics showing that the average cost of vacant residential land in Saanich municipality increased by 10 to 12 per cent between 1961 and 1964.

But in 1965 it jumped 13.7 per cent and last year rose another 15.9 per cent, he said.

Price of wood products has risen so much now it is cheaper to build with masonry, said Mr. Shaw. At the moment it costs more to build in Victoria than in Vancouver.

Another information meeting is planned for north peninsula ratepayers before the Dec. 9 vote.

The whole $554,800 referendum is 50 per cent shareable by the department of education.

Complete Confidence

Coun. Bell said the report dealt also with the necessity of splitting the departments.

A vote of confidence in the police commission was carried unanimously — and the reeve asked the press to take special note of the unanimity of the council.

Coun. Roy Elphick referred to the publication by the Colonist of the long-secret report as a "dastardly thing."

"This was a confidential report, and anyone who has ever been in the services should know the meaning of confidential," said Coun. Elphick.

"These men poured their hearts out to Supt. Macdonell, knowing it would be kept confidential. Now certain people want to drag the words and thoughts of these men into the political arena."

"It is a real shame that this has ever happened in this municipality. It is a planned political trick and the people who purport to be very bad because they must hate Esquimalt an awful lot to do such a thing."

"I can just imagine how the whole police department must feel when certain names are bandied around and they don't know whether it is them or someone else."

"I think it is entirely out of order for Mr. Bell to ask for a copy of this report."

Coun. Arthur Mebs, a candidate reeve in December, said he thought it a terrible thing that secret information had leaked out, when councillors were unaware of the contents of the report.

"I was most disturbed that the Colonist decided to print this without permission," said Coun. Gerald Horne, chairman of the fire committee.

Confidential Nature

"We have been criticized throughout the year for having closed meetings. We have had to deal with matters of a confidential nature, and there have been suggestions that the press be admitted for background information."

"This has shaken my confidence in the press. Whoever was responsible for printing this was certainly remiss — it was irresponsible on their part."

Coun. Horne said Esquimalt has always had a good police department, and he failed to see how anyone could possibly want a copy of a report which dealt largely in personalities "unless it was to glean personal information which may be used to smear individuals in the police department."

Coun. Mebs, proposing the referendum, asked that it be held at the time of the December elections so the air could be cleared.

It was decided to leave it for the incoming council so there would be time to get information to the public.

"Coun. Elphick and I are on the fire committee, and if people don't like what we have been doing we won't be here next year," he added.

Coun. Mebs questioned the continuity of information "if we have a new committee next year."

"Thank you, Coun. Mebs," laughed Coun. Horne.

He said that, from information he gathered during a 2½ month study of the police-fire department earlier this year, a separate fire department would cost about nine mills.

"This referendum is long overdue," said Coun. Bell.

Thinking of Future

"Fire protection will be expensive from a dollars and cents point of view, but the people of Esquimalt know things won't cost less in the years ahead."

"It is up to council to provide fire protection, and I know at dockyard we have a first-class fire department available to us to call on — if their own house is clean first."

"I believe that if we go to the people with a referendum and they defeat it, then if a life is lost in a fire it is on their heads as much as on ours."

Coun. Bell suggested the fire committee, in bringing in a report on the cost of a fire department, should show the cost of getting all new buildings and equipment as well as the additional men.

Coun. Horne retorted that, if he was going to bring in a cost report, it had to be accepted "100 per cent" by council.

"I am not going to be criticized by my own council for the work I have done," he said.

"These figures certainly won't be cooked up. Although we have taken abuse occasionally there is certainly not going to be any attempt to present a favorable or unfavorable picture. It is absolutely necessary that council endorse the figures we come up with, and people can decide if it is worth it on that basis."

Coun. Horne said that, despite expensive renovations to the public works shed to provide additional accommodation for the firemen and equipment, it would be impossible to put in an entire department.

'That Chicken Coop'

All reports on separation of the departments had advised putting up new buildings in a new location, and the unions would not allow the use of the present accommodation.

He turned on Coun. Mebs, who endeavored to support new accommodation.

"We can't think of having a fire department in that chicken coop we have already put a considerable amount of money into," said Coun. Mebs.

Coun. Horne objected to the "chicken coop" connotation.

"Mr. Mebs should retract that word. I don't want to read it on the front page of the Colonist in the morning," he stormed.

"We have put a lot of money into it, and Coun. Mebs obviously needs to take a tour there."

Coun. Mebs said he hoped a referendum would clear the air.

"This thing keeps rearing its head out of the water every time someone wants to use it for political purposes."

"If we allow the people to say what they want, it will resolve the issue once and for all."

Coun. Horne said the present force is ready to split "at a moment's notice" if it becomes necessary, as it would if the dockyard fire department were to close.

"I wonder what our position would be if this were turned down at a referendum, and we lost our back-up and had to separate?"

Coun. Elphick pleaded for time for the atmosphere to cool down before people are asked to make a decision on separation.

"There is a great deal of emotionalism at the time of an election," he said. "This should be a separate issue."

"I like to see this at election time," retorted the reeve. "And I'm sure people are capable of making a wise decision at any time."

"If it is an emotional issue at election time, it will be an emotional issue whenever it comes up."

No Rush Likely On Ferries

Weekend sailing schedule of B.C. ferries will not be stepped up because of the Remembrance Day holiday, general manager Monte Aldous said Monday.

Island-mainland ferries run hourly from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. each Friday, Saturday and Sunday in winter, with two-hour service from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. on other days.

Long lines last Remembrance Day holiday weekend forced extra ferries. Mr. Aldous said some extra traffic is likely this year, "but it is usually greater when a holiday falls on Friday or Monday."

He said weekenders will likely not travel so far this year due to the Saturday holiday.
